An Act to establish the Development Allowance Authority, and for related purposes

Chapter 1—Preliminary

1 Short title

This Act may be cited as the Development Allowance Authority Act 1992.

2 Commencement

- (1) Subject to this section, this Act commences on the day on which it receives the Royal Assent.
- (2) If the day (TLAA day) on which the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 3) 1992 receives the Royal Assent is a later day than the day on which this Act receives the Royal Assent, Parts 2 to 10 (inclusive), 12, 13, 14 and 15 commence on the TLAA day.

2A Application of the Criminal Code

Chapter 2 of the Criminal Code applies to all offences against this Act.

Note: Chapter 2 of the Criminal Code sets out the general principles of criminal responsibility.

Chapter 3—Infrastructure borrowings

Part 1—Preliminary

93A Object

The object of this Chapter and the infrastructure borrowings provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 is to provide tax incentives for genuine private sector investment in publicly accessible infrastructure facilities and related facilities. However, the incentives have been terminated for new cases by the Taxation Laws Amendment (Infrastructure Borrowings) Act 1997.

93B Simplified outline of scheme of Chapter

The following is a simplified outline of the scheme of this Chapter:

- (a) a person may apply to the Development Allowance Authority (the DAA) for the issue of a certificate in relation to a proposed borrowing that the person considers to be an infrastructure borrowing;

Note: As a result of amendments made by the Taxation Laws Amendment (Infrastructure Borrowings) Act 1997, no new applications can be made.

- (b) the DAA will issue the certificate if it is satisfied that the borrowing is an infrastructure borrowing and that certain other criteria are met;
- (c) it is a condition of the issue of the certificate that the holder must use the money borrowed in the way proposed in the person's application and must comply with certain other requirements;
- (d) if the certificate holder wishes to transfer to another person all of its interests and liabilities in relation to the borrowing or any facilities acquired or constructed with the money borrowed and certain criteria are met, the DAA must agree to transfer the certificate;

- (e) the DAA may cancel the certificate if the conditions applying to it are contravened, or if the holder fails to comply with certain other requirements of the Chapter. In such a case, the holder will be liable to pay an amount that recoups some or all of the tax benefits of the certificate.

93C Example of how this Chapter works

[Typical example—borrowing to finance a tollway]

- (1) This section sets out an example of how this Chapter works in a typical case involving a borrowing to construct a tollway.

[Step 1—proposal]

- (2) By December 1994, a non-exempt public company has developed a proposal to construct a tollway in Australia that it intends to operate for at least 25 years after it becomes income-producing. The estimated cost of the tollway is $600 million, of which the company intends to borrow $400 million by a public bond issue at 8% per annum over 10 years. The company intends to build the tollway in 2 stages:
- stage 1, commencing in November 1995 and continuing until November 1998, involving the major earthworks
 - stage 2, commencing in February 1999 and ending at the end of 2001, involving construction of bridges, road pavement, stabilisation of embankments and construction of related facilities for toll collection and other staff.

[Step 2—application to DAA]

- (3) In January 1995, the company applies to the DAA for the issue of a certificate in relation to the borrowing. The application sets out details of the proposed borrowing and expenditure and other relevant matters.

Section 93C

[Step 3—action by DAA]

- (4) The DAA considers the application and determines that the criteria in the Chapter for the issue of a certificate are met. (The criteria relate to such things as the nature of the borrower and the facility, and the proposed public use and charging regime.)

[Step 4—issue of certificate]

- (5) In March 1995, the applicant gives the DAA an undertaking that it will comply with its obligations if the certificate is issued, and the DAA issues the certificate.

[Step 5—the bond issue]

- (6) The bond issue takes place in May 1995. Interest paid to bond holders is exempt from income tax or rebatable. The interest is not an allowable deduction for the company.

[Completion and operation of tollway]

- (7) The borrowing, construction and use of the tollway all go ahead as planned.

Nature of determination

- (2) After receiving the request, the Commissioner must determine whether or not, if the conditions are varied in accordance with the application, there is likely to be, as a result of the variation, a reduction in the sum of the present values (worked out when the

Section 93U

Commissioner to advise of determination

- (2) After receiving the request, the Commissioner must advise the DAA and the person who applied for the variation, in writing, of the determination that the Commissioner would have made under subsection 93TA(2) (assuming that section 93TA had been in force at the time) if the DAA had requested the Commissioner to make a determination in relation to the variation of the conditions immediately before they were varied.

Application of subsections 93TA(3) and (6) etc.

- (3) Subsections 93TA(3) and (6), and Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953, apply in the same way to the Commissioner's advice as they do to a determination under subsection 93TA(2).
