 - (c) the Court is satisfied on the balance of probabilities that:
 - (i) each of the conditions; and
 - (ii) the combined effect of all of the conditions;to be imposed on the offender by the order is reasonably necessary, and reasonably appropriate and adapted, for the purpose of protecting the community from that unacceptable risk.

Determining whether conditions are reasonably necessary, appropriate and adapted

- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c), in determining whether each of the conditions to be imposed on the offender by the order is reasonably necessary, and reasonably appropriate and adapted, the Court must take into account, as a paramount consideration in all cases, the object of this Division (see section 105A.1).

Onus of satisfying Court

- (3) The AFP Minister bears the onus of satisfying the Court of the matters referred to in paragraphs (1)(b) and (c).

Content of order

- (4) The order must:
- (a) state that the Court is satisfied of the matters mentioned in paragraphs (1)(b) and (c); and
 - (b) specify the name of the offender to whom the order relates; and
 - (c) specify all of the conditions, and any exemption conditions, that are to be imposed in accordance with section 105A.7B or 105A.7C on the offender by the order; and
 - (d) specify the period during which the order is to be in force, which must be a period of no more than 3 years that the Court is satisfied is reasonably necessary to prevent the unacceptable risk; and
 - (e) state that the offender's lawyer may request a copy of the order.

Note: The order may be suspended during the period that it is in force if the offender is detained in custody in a prison (see section 105A.18C).

Court may make successive extended supervision orders

- (5) To avoid doubt, paragraph (4)(d) does not prevent a Supreme Court of a State or Territory making an extended supervision order in relation to a terrorist offender that begins to be in force immediately after a previous extended supervision order, or continuing detention order, in relation to the offender ceases to be in force.

Automatic revocation of continuing detention orders etc.

- (6) A continuing detention order or interim detention order that is in force in relation to a terrorist offender is revoked by force of this subsection if:
- (a) a Court makes an extended supervision order in relation to the offender; and
 - (b) the continuing detention order or interim detention order is in force immediately before the extended supervision order begins to be in force.

105A.7B Conditions of extended supervision orders and interim supervision orders

 - (b) those conditions whose combined effect the Court is satisfied;
- on the balance of probabilities, are reasonably necessary, and reasonably appropriate and adapted, for the purpose of protecting the community from the unacceptable risk of the offender committing a serious Part 5.3 offence.

Note: The Court may, under section 105A.7C, specify conditions from which exemptions may be granted.

- (1A) If the terrorist offender is subject to an order under a law of a State or Territory that is equivalent to a post-sentence order, the Court must consider the conditions under that State or Territory order in imposing conditions in accordance with subsection (1).

General rules about conditions

- (2) To avoid doubt, without limiting subsection 33(3A) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901, a condition imposed under this section may:
- (a) prohibit or restrict specified conduct of the offender, or impose obligations on the offender; or

- (b) impose restrictions and obligations on the offender in relation to classes of conduct, and prohibit other classes of that conduct; or
 - (c) impose different restrictions, obligations and prohibitions in relation to different classes of conduct; or
 - (d) for conduct that is prohibited by a condition described in a paragraph of subsection (3)—impose restrictions and obligations on the offender in relation to that conduct instead of prohibiting that conduct; or
 - (e) for conduct described in a paragraph of subsection (3) or (5)—impose different restrictions, obligations and prohibitions in relation to that conduct.
- (2A) A condition imposed under this section must not require the offender to remain at specified premises for more than 12 hours within any 24 hours.

Note: A series of interim supervision orders can be made in relation to a person (see subsection (8)).

- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(d), in determining whether each of the conditions to be imposed on the offender by the order is reasonably necessary, and reasonably appropriate and adapted, the Court must take into account, as a paramount consideration in all cases, the object of this Division (see section 105A.1).

 - (ii) if the AFP Minister is aware of any facts relating to why any of those conditions should not be added or varied—a statement of those facts, except any facts that are likely to be protected by public interest immunity (whether the claim for public interest immunity is to be made by the AFP Minister or any other person);
 - (iii) the outcomes and particulars of all previous applications made under this section (whether by or on behalf of the AFP Minister or the terrorist offender) for variations of the order; and

- (1) If an application is made in accordance with subsection 105A.9B(1A) or (1), and subsection (2), to a Supreme Court of a State or Territory to vary an extended supervision order or interim supervision order in relation to a terrorist offender, the Court may vary the order, but only if:
- (a) for an application for the order to be varied by adding or varying conditions—the Court is satisfied on the balance of probabilities that each of the conditions being added or varied is reasonably necessary, and reasonably appropriate and adapted, for the purpose of protecting the community from the unacceptable risk of the offender committing a serious Part 5.3 offence; and

- (b) for an application for the order to be varied by removing conditions—the Court is not satisfied on the balance of probabilities that each of the conditions being removed is reasonably necessary, and reasonably appropriate and adapted, for the purpose of protecting the community from the unacceptable risk of the offender committing a serious Part 5.3 offence.

Note: See section 105A.9E for the terms of a varied extended supervision order or interim supervision order.

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), in determining whether each of the conditions to be added, varied or removed by the order is reasonably necessary, and reasonably appropriate and adapted, the Court must take into account, as a paramount consideration in all cases, the object of this Division (see section 105A.1).
- (3) The AFP Minister bears the onus of satisfying the Court of the matters referred to in subsection (1).

- (1) Any of the following persons (the applicant) may apply to a Supreme Court of a State or Territory to vary an extended supervision order or interim supervision order in relation to a terrorist offender by varying or removing one or more conditions mentioned in section 105A.7B:
