Part 3—Workplace arrangements

Division 1—Health and safety representatives

24 Designated work groups

(1) A request to an employer to enter into consultations to establish designated work groups in respect of employees of the employer, or to vary designated work groups that have already been established, may be made by:
   (a) if there are involved unions in relation to employees of the employer—any such involved union; or
   (b) if there is no involved union in relation to any employee of the employer—any such employee.

(2) The employer may, at any time, and must, within 14 days after receiving such a request, enter into such consultations with:
   (a) if there are involved unions in relation to employees of the employer—each such involved union; or
   (b) if there is no involved union in relation to any employee of the employer—the employee who made the request.

(3) Where an employer believes that designated work groups should be varied, the employer may, at any time, enter into consultations concerning the variation of the designated work groups with:
   (a) if there are involved unions in relation to employees of the employer—each such involved union; or
   (b) if there is no involved union in relation to any employee of the employer—the health and safety representative of each designated work group proposed to be varied.

(4) If, in the course of consultations under subsection (2) or (3), there is a disagreement between any of the parties to the consultation concerning the manner of establishing or varying a designated work group, any party may, for the purpose of facilitating that consultation, refer the matter of disagreement to the reviewing authority and, where this is done, the parties to the disagreement must complete the consultation in accordance with the resolution of that matter by the reviewing authority.
(5) Within 14 days after the completion of consultations concerning the establishment of the designated work groups, the employer must, by notifying the employees of the employer, establish the designated work groups in accordance with the outcome of the consultations.

(6) Within 14 days after the completion of consultations concerning the variation of designated work groups that have already been established, the employer must, if it has been determined that the variation of some or all of those designated work groups is justified, by notifying the employees of the employer who are affected by the variation, vary the designated work groups in accordance with the outcome of the consultations.

(7) Consultations relating to the establishment or variation of a designated work group must be directed principally at the determination of the manner of grouping employees:
(a) that best and most conveniently enables the employees’ interests relating to occupational health and safety to be represented and safeguarded; and
(b) that best takes account of the need for any health and safety representative selected for that designated work group to be accessible to each employee included in the group; and, for these purposes, the parties to the consultations must have regard, in particular, to:
(c) the number of the employees; and
(d) the nature of each type of work performed by the employees;
and
(e) the number and grouping of the employees who perform the same or similar types of work; and (f) the workplaces, and the areas within the workplaces, where each type of work is performed; and
(g) the nature of any risks to health and safety at the workplaces;
and
(h) any overtime or shift working arrangements at the workplaces.

(8) The designated work groups must be established in such a manner that, and must only be varied in such a manner that, so far as is

Part 3  Workplace arrangements
Division 1  Health and safety representatives

Section 25

reasonably practicable, each of the employees is included in a designated work group.

(9) All of an employer’s employees may be included in one designated work group.

25  Health and safety representatives

(1) One health and safety representative may be selected for each designated work group.

(2) A person is not eligible for selection as the health and safety representative for a designated work group unless the person is an employee included in the group.

(3) A person is to be taken to have been selected as the health and safety representative for a designated work group if:

   (a) all of the employees included in the group unanimously agree to the selection of the person as the health and safety representative of the group; or
   (b) the person is elected as the health and safety representative of the group.

(4) An election for a health and safety representative for the designated work group may be conducted:

   (a) if there is only one involved union in relation to the group—by that involved union; or
   (b) if there is more than one involved union and all the involved unions are in agreement that a specified one of those unions should conduct the election—by that specified union; or
   (c) if there is no involved union in relation to the group—by a person authorised by the Commission to conduct elections under this section.

(5) An employee in the designated work group may be a candidate in the election if and only if:

   (a) the employee is not disqualified under section 32; and
   (b) where an involved union in relation to the group is conducting the election—the employee is nominated by an involved union in relation to the group.

(6) All the employees in the designated work group are entitled to vote in the election.

(7) Where there is only one candidate for the election, that person is to be taken to have been elected.

(8) Where a person is selected as the health and safety representative for a designated work group:
   (a) if the person is selected by agreement in accordance with paragraph (3)(a)—the person; and
   (b) if the person is selected by election in accordance with paragraph (3)(b)—the involved union or other person authorised under subsection (4) to conduct the election; must, as soon as practicable after the person has been so selected, inform the employer of all the employees included in the group of the name of the person so selected.

(9) As soon as practicable after being so informed, the employer must cause a notice that the person so selected is the health and safety representative for the group to be displayed in a prominent place at such workplaces, under the employer’s control, as will allow all of the employees in the group to be notified of the selection.

(10) An employer must prepare and keep up to date a list of all the health and safety representatives of designated work groups comprising employees performing work for the employer, and must ensure that that list is at all reasonable times available for inspection by:
   (a) the employees; and
   (b) involved unions in relation to the designated work groups; and
   (c) investigators.

26 Term of office

Subject to this Part, a health and safety representative for a designated work group holds office:
   (a) if, in consultations that took place under section 24, the parties to the consultations agreed to the period for which the health and safety representative for the group was to hold office—for such a period; or
(b) if paragraph (a) does not apply—for 2 years; commencing on the commencement of the day on which he or she was selected to be the health and safety representative for the group, but is eligible to be selected for further terms of office.

27 Training of health and safety representatives

(1) A health and safety representative for a designated work group must undertake a course of training relating to occupational health and safety that is accredited by the Commission for the purposes of this section.

(2) The employer of the employees in a designated work group must permit the health and safety representative for the group to take such time off work, without loss of remuneration or other entitlements, as is necessary to undertake the training.

28 Powers of health and safety representatives

(1) A health and safety representative for a designated work group may, for the purposes of promoting or ensuring the health and safety at work of the employees in the designated work group:
(a) in respect of a workplace at which work is performed, for the employer of all of the employees in the group, by some or all of those employees, do all or any of the following:
(i) inspect the whole or any part of the workplace if:
(A) there has, in the immediate past, been an

(ii) the employer or a person representing the employer; and

(d) obtain access to:

(i) any information under the employer’s control relating to risks to health and safety of any employees:

(ii) subject to subsection (6), any information under the employer’s control relating to the health and safety of any of the employer’s employees; and

(e) issue provisional improvement notices in accordance with section 29.

(2) A health and safety representative for a designated work group is entitled, in the exercise of his or her powers, to be assisted by a consultant.

(3) A health and safety representative for a designated work group must not:
Part 3 Workplace arrangements
Division 1 Health and safety representatives

Section 28

(a) be assisted by a consultant at a workplace at which work is performed for an employer of the employees in the group; or
(b) provide to a consultant information which has been provided to the health and safety representative by an employer under paragraph (1)(d);
unless the employer or the Commission has, in writing, agreed to the provision of that assistance at that workplace or the provision of that information, as the case may be.

(4) An employer does not, by reason of the agreement of the employer under subsection (3) to the provision of assistance by a consultant, become liable for any remuneration or other expenses incurred in connection with the consultant’s activities.

(5) Where a health and safety representative for a designated work group is being assisted by a consultant, the consultant is entitled to be present with the representative at any interview, concerning health and safety at work, between an employee in the group and:
(a) an investigator; or
(b) the employer or a person representing the employer;
if, and only if, the employee concerned consents to the presence of the consultant.

(6) The health and safety representative is not entitled, or, where the health and safety representative is assisted by a consultant, the health and safety representative and the consultant are not entitled, under subparagraph (1)(d)(ii), to have access:
(a) to information in respect of which the employer is entitled to claim, and does claim, legal professional privilege; and
(b) to information of a confidential medical nature relating to a person who is or was an employee of the employer unless:
(i) the person has delivered to the employer a written authority permitting the health and safety representative, or, the health and safety representative and the consultant, as the case requires, to have access to the information; or
(ii) the information is in a form that does not identify the person or enable the identity of the person to be discovered.
(7) Nothing in this Act is to be read as:
   (a) imposing an obligation on a person to exercise any power conferred on the person because the person is a health and safety representative; or
   (b) rendering a person liable in civil proceedings because of:
       (i) a failure to exercise such a power; or
       (ii) the manner in which such a power was exercised.

29 Provisional improvement notices

(1) Where a health and safety representative for a designated work group believes, on reasonable grounds, that a person:
   (a) is contravening a provision of this Act or the regulations; or
   (b) has contravened a provision of this Act or the regulations and is likely to contravene that provision again; being a contravention that affects or that may affect one or more employees included in the group, the representative must enter into consultations with the person supervising the work performed by the employee or employees in an attempt to reach agreement on rectifying the contravention or preventing the likely contravention.

(2) If, in the health and safety representative’s opinion, agreement is not reached within a reasonable time, the health and safety representative may issue a provisional improvement notice to the person (in this section called the responsible person) responsible for the contravention.

(3) Where the responsible person is an employer but it is not practicable to issue the notice to the employer by giving it to the employer, the notice may be issued to the employer by giving it to the person who is, or who may reasonably be presumed to be, for the time being, in charge of the activity, undertaken by the employer, in connection with which, in the health and safety representative’s opinion, the employer is contravening, or is likely to contravene, this Act or the regulations and, where the notice is so issued, a copy of the notice must be given to the employer as soon as practicable thereafter.

(4) The notice must:
(a) specify the contravention of the provision of this Act or the regulations that, in the health and safety representative’s opinion, is occurring or is likely to occur, and set out the reasons for that opinion; and

(b) specify a period of not less than 7 days commencing on the day after the notice is issued, being a period that is, in the representative’s opinion, reasonable, within which the responsible person is to take action necessary to prevent any further contravention of the provision or to prevent the likely contravention of the provision, as the case may be.

(5) The notice may specify action that the responsible person is to take during the period specified in the notice.

(6) Where, in the health and safety representative’s opinion, it is appropriate to do so, the representative may, in writing and before the end of the period, extend the period specified in the notice.

(7) Upon issuing the notice, the health and safety representative must give a copy of the notice to:

   (a) where the notice is issued to an employee in connection with work performed by the employee for an employer—that employer; and

   (b) where the notice relates to any workplace, plant, substance or thing that is owned by a person, not being the responsible person or a person who is an employer referred to in paragraph (a)—that owner; and

   (c) where the notice is issued to a person (not being an employer) who owns any workplace, plant, substance or thing by reason of which a contravention of this Act or the regulations has occurred or is likely to occur—the employer of the employees who work in that workplace or who use that plant, substance or thing.

(8) Within 7 days after the notice is issued, the responsible person, or any other person, to whom a copy of the notice has been given under subsection (7), may make a request to the Commission or to an investigator that an investigation of the matter the subject of the notice be conducted.

   (a) confirm, vary or cancel the notice and notify the responsible person and any person to whom a copy of the notice has been given under subsection (2) accordingly; and
   (b) make such decisions, and exercise such powers, under Part 4, as the investigator considers necessary in relation to the work.

(11) Where the investigator varies the notice, the notice as so varied has effect, and, except in so far as it imposes additional obligations on the responsible person, is to be taken to have always had effect accordingly.

(12) Where the notice is issued to an employer, the employer must:
   (a) notify each employee who is performing work for the employer and who is affected by the notice of the fact of the issue of the notice; and
   (b) until the notice ceases to have effect, cause a copy of the notice to be displayed at or near each workplace at which the work that is the subject of the notice is being performed.

(13) The notice ceases to have effect if:
   (a) it is cancelled by an investigator or by the health and safety representative; or
   (b) the responsible person:
      (i) takes such action, if any, as is specified in the notice; or
      (ii) if no action is so specified—takes the action necessary to prevent the further contravention, or likely contravention, with which the notice is concerned.

(14) The responsible person:
   (a) must ensure that, to the extent that the notice relates to any matter over which the person has control, the notice is complied with; and
(b) must take such steps as are reasonably practicable to inform the health and safety representative who issued the notice of the action taken to comply with the notice.

(15) For the purposes of section 48, where the investigator confirms or varies the notice, the investigator is to be taken to have decided, under section 47, to issue an improvement notice in those terms.

(2) Where the responsible person is an employer but it is not reasonably practicable to issue the notice to the employer by giving it to the employer, the improvement notice may be issued to the employer by giving it to the person who is, or who may reasonably be presumed to be, for the time being in charge of the activity, undertaken by the employer, in connection with which, in the investigator’s opinion, the employer is contravening, or is likely to contravene, this Act or the regulations and, where the notice is so issued, a copy of the notice must be given to the employer as soon as practicable thereafter.
