- (b) has such jurisdiction, both civil and criminal, and whether original or otherwise, as is from time to time vested in the Supreme Court by Act, by Ordinance or by enactment; and
- (c) has jurisdiction, with such exceptions and subject to such conditions as are provided by Act or by Ordinance or enactment, to hear and determine appeals from all judgments, convictions, orders and sentences of inferior courts having jurisdiction in the Territory.

- (3) The Supreme Court shall exercise the same jurisdiction as the Supreme Court of New South Wales sitting in Banco has, at the commencement of this Act, to set aside a verdict or finding of a jury, to enter judgment notwithstanding any such verdict or finding and to order a new trial after a trial with a jury.

15 Costs

- (1) The Supreme Court, and the Judge sitting in Chambers, shall have jurisdiction to award costs in all matters brought before the Court, including matters dismissed for want of jurisdiction.
- (2) Subject to Rules of Court, to any Ordinance, to any enactment and to the express provisions of any other Act, the costs of and incidental to all proceedings in the Supreme Court, including the administration of estates and trusts, shall be in the discretion of the Court or Judge, and the Court or Judge shall have full power to determine by whom and to what extent the costs are to be paid.
- (3) Nothing in this section shall alter the practice which would otherwise be followed in any criminal cause or matter or in proceedings on the Crown side of the Court.

16 Service of writs out of the jurisdiction of the Court

Writs of summons issued out of the Supreme Court and notices of such writs may be served out of the jurisdiction of the Court in the manner and to the extent provided by the Rules of Court.

17 Law and equity to be concurrently administered

Subject to the express provisions of any other Act, in every civil cause or matter commenced in the Supreme Court law and equity shall be administered according to the provisions of sections 18 to 24 (inclusive) of this Act.

18 Equities of plaintiff

If a plaintiff or petitioner claims to be entitled to any equitable estate or right, or to relief on any equitable ground against any deed, instrument or contract, or against any right, title or claim whatsoever asserted by any defendant or respondent in the cause or matter, or to any relief founded upon a legal right, which could in England immediately before the commencement of the Judicature Act only have been given by a Court of Equity, the Supreme Court or the Judge shall give to the plaintiff or petitioner the same relief as ought then to have been given by the English Court of Chancery in a suit or proceeding for the like purpose properly instituted.

19 Equities of defendant

If a defendant claims to be entitled to any equitable estate or right, or to relief on any equitable ground against any deed, instrument or contract, or against any right, title or claim asserted by any plaintiff or petitioner in the cause or matter, or alleges any ground of equitable defence to any such claim of the plaintiff or petitioner, the Supreme Court or the Judge shall give to every equitable estate, right or ground of relief so claimed, and to every equitable defence so alleged, the same effect by way of defence against the claim of the plaintiff or petitioner, as the English Court of Chancery ought, immediately before the commencement of the Judicature Act, to have given if the like matters had been relied on by way of defence in any suit or proceeding instituted in that Court for the like purpose.

Section 20

20 Counter claims and third parties

- (1) The Supreme Court or the Judge shall have power to grant to any defendant in respect of any equitable estate or right or other matter of equity, and also in respect of any legal estate, right or title claimed or asserted by him:
 - (a) all such relief against any plaintiff or petitioner as the defendant has properly claimed by his pleading, and as the Court or Judge might have granted in any suit instituted for that purpose by that defendant against the same plaintiff or petitioner; and
 - (b) all such relief relating to or connected with the original subject of the cause or matter, claimed in like manner against any other person, whether already a party to the cause or matter or not, who has been duly served with notice in writing of the claim pursuant to Rules of Court, any Ordinance, any enactment or any order of the Court, as might properly have been granted against that person if he had been made a defendant to a cause duly instituted by the same defendant for the like purpose.
- (2) Every person served with any such notice shall thenceforth be deemed a party to the cause or matter with the same rights in respect of his defence against the claim as if he had been duly sued in the ordinary way by the defendant.

21 Equities appearing incidentally

The Supreme Court or the Judge shall take notice of all equitable estates, titles and rights, and all equitable duties and liabilities appearing incidentally in the course of any cause or matter, in the same manner in which the English Court of Chancery would, immediately before the commencement of the Judicature Act, have taken notice of those matters in any suit or proceeding properly instituted therein.

22 Defence or stay instead of injunction or prohibition

No cause or proceeding at any time pending in the Supreme Court shall be restrained by prohibition or injunction, but every matter of equity on which an injunction against the prosecution of any such cause or proceeding, if such cause or proceeding had been a suit or proceeding properly instituted in the English Court of Chancery for the like purpose, might, immediately before the commencement of the Judicature Act, have been obtained, whether unconditionally or on any terms or conditions, may be relied on by way of defence thereto;

Provided that:

- (a) nothing in this Act shall disable the Court, if it thinks fit so to do, from directing a stay of proceedings in any cause or matter pending before it; and
- (b) any person, whether a party or not to any such cause or matter, who, if the cause or matter had been a suit or proceeding properly instituted in the English Court of Chancery for the like purpose would, immediately before the commencement of the Judicature Act, have been entitled to apply to any court to restrain the prosecution thereof, or who may be entitled to enforce, by attachment or otherwise, any judgment, decree, rule or order, in contravention of which all or any part of the proceedings in the cause or matter have been taken, may apply to the Court by motion in a summary way, for a stay of proceedings in the cause or matter, either generally, or so far as may be necessary for the purposes of justice, and the Court shall thereupon make such order as is just.

23 Common law and statutory rights and duties

Subject to the provisions of this Act for giving effect to equitable rights and other matters of equity, the Supreme Court or the Judge shall give effect to all legal claims and demands, and all estates, titles, rights, duties, obligations and liabilities existing under the law in force in the Territory, including common law and custom.

Section 24

24 Determination of matter completely and finally

The Supreme Court, in the exercise of the jurisdiction vested in it by this Act, shall, in every cause or matter pending before the Court, grant, either absolutely or on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks just, all such remedies whatsoever as any of the parties thereto may appear to be entitled to in respect of any legal or equitable claim properly brought forward by them in the cause or matter, so that, as far as possible, all matters in controversy between the parties may be completely and finally determined, and all multiplicity of legal proceedings concerning any of those matters avoided.

25 Rules of equity to prevail

In questions relating to the custody and education of infants and generally in all matters not particularly mentioned in this Act, in which there was formerly or is any conflict or variance between the rules of equity and the rules of the common law with reference to the same matter, the rules of equity shall prevail.

26 Mandamus, injunctions and receivers

- (1) The Supreme Court may grant a mandamus or an injunction or appoint a receiver by any interlocutory order in all cases in which it appears to the Court to be just or convenient so to do.
- (2) Any such order may be made either unconditionally or on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks just.
- (3) If, whether before, or at, or after the hearing of any cause or matter, an application is made for an injunction to prevent any threatened or apprehended waste or trespass, the injunction may be granted, if the Court thinks fit, whether the person against whom the injunction is sought is or is not in possession under any claim of title or otherwise, or (if out of possession) does or does not claim a right to do the act sought to be restrained under any colour of title, and whether the estates claimed by both or by either of the parties are legal or equitable.

27 Practice and procedure

Where no provision in relation to a matter of practice and procedure of the Supreme Court is contained in this or any other Act, an Ordinance, an enactment or Rules of Court, that matter shall be governed, as nearly as may be, by the practice and procedure of the High Court in similar matters and, if that practice and procedure is not applicable, that matter shall be governed, as nearly as may be, by the practice and procedure of the Supreme Court of New South Wales.

28 Rules of Court

- (1) The Judges appointed under subsection (1) of section 7 or any two of those Judges may make Rules of Court, not inconsistent with this or any other Act, with regulations under this or any other Act or with any Ordinance:
 - (a) for regulating and prescribing:
 - (i) the practice and procedure, including the method of pleading, to be followed in the Supreme Court and in the offices of the Court; and
 - (ii) all matters and things incidental to or relating to any such practice and procedure or necessary or convenient to be prescribed for the conduct of any business of the Court;
 - (b) for prescribing any matter or thing that is, by any law of the Commonwealth or of the Territory that makes provision for the incorporation of, and otherwise in relation to, companies, required or permitted to be prescribed by regulation under that law;
 - (c) for prescribing the qualifications for the admission of persons to practise as barristers and solicitors of the Supreme Court; and
 - (d) for prescribing any matter or thing that is, by this Act or by any Ordinance or enactment, required or permitted to be prescribed by Rules of Court.
 - (2) In particular the Rules of Court may provide:
 - (a) for the places of sitting of the Court;

Section 29

- (b) for the service and execution of the process of the Court including the manner in which and the extent to which the process of the Court may be served and executed out of the jurisdiction of the Court;
 - (c) for the execution of the judgments of the Court;
