Historic Shipwrecks Act 1976
An Act relating to the Protection of Certain Shipwrecks and Relics of Historic Significance

WHEREAS, by an Agreement between the Netherlands and Australia Concerning Old Dutch Shipwrecks that was signed on 6 November 1972 (being the agreement a copy of the text of which is set out in Schedule 1 to this Act), the Netherlands, as successor to the property and assets of the Dutch “Vereenigde Oostindische Compagnie”, transferred to Australia all its right, title and interest in and to wrecked vessels of the Dutch “Vereenigde Oostindische Compagnie” lying on or off the coast of the State of Western Australia and in and to any articles thereof and Australia accepted that right, title and interest:

AND WHEREAS it is desirable that the Commonwealth and the States, in co-operation, should protect those wrecked vessels and articles, and the remains of, and any articles associated with, other ships of historic significance, being remains or articles that are situated in, or have been removed from, Australian waters or waters above the continental shelf of Australia:

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by the Queen, and the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Australia, as follows:

Part I—Preliminary

1 Short title [see Note 1]

This Act may be cited as the Historic Shipwrecks Act 1976.

2 Commencement and application of Act [see Note 1]

(1) This Act shall come into operation on the day on which it receives the Royal Assent but shall not apply in relation to waters (including waters above the continental shelf) adjacent to the coast of a State until a Proclamation has been made declaring that this Act applies in relation to waters adjacent to the coast of that State.

(2) A Proclamation under subsection (1) may be expressed to relate only to a specified part of the waters adjacent to the coast of a State and, where a Proclamation so expressed is made, this Act shall commence to apply in relation to that part of those waters only.
(3) Proclamations under subsection (1) in relation to waters adjacent to the coasts of New South Wales, Queensland and Western Australia having been made, before the commencement of this subsection, at the request or with the consent of the Governments of those States respectively, no further Proclamation under that subsection shall be made except at the request or with the consent of the Government of the State concerned.

(4) If, after this Act has commenced to apply in relation to any waters adjacent to the coast of a State, the Government of the State notifies the Government of the Commonwealth that it desires that this Act shall cease to apply in relation to those waters or a specified part of those waters, the Governor-General shall, by Proclamation, declare that this Act shall, on a date specified in the Proclamation, cease to apply accordingly and, upon that date, this Act shall cease to apply in relation to the waters specified in the Proclamation or to or in relation to remains of ships, and articles, that are in those waters or have been removed from those waters, and section 8 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 has effect as if this Act, to the extent that it so ceases to apply, had been repealed on that date by another Act.

(5) A Government of a State may, in a notification to the Government of the Commonwealth under subsection (4), request that this Act shall continue to be applicable to and in relation to specified articles, or articles of a specified class, removed from the waters referred to in the notification and, in that event, the Proclamation under that subsection shall provide, and have effect, accordingly.

(6) Nothing contained in, or done under, subsection (4) affects the application of this Act to or in relation to a Dutch shipwreck or Dutch relic, and a Proclamation under that subsection in relation to waters adjacent to Western Australia shall declare that the Proclamation does not affect the application of this Act to or in relation to any wrecked vessel or article that is a Dutch shipwreck or Dutch relic within the meaning of this Act.

(7) Where the Governor-General is satisfied that arrangements made, apart from this Act, with respect to Dutch shipwrecks or Dutch relics make it appropriate to do so, the Governor-General may, by Proclamation, declare that this Act shall, on a date specified in the Proclamation, cease to apply to and in relation to all Dutch shipwrecks and Dutch relics, or such Dutch shipwrecks and Dutch... relics as are in, or have been removed from, a specified part of the waters adjacent to Western Australia and, where such a Proclamation is made, section 8 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 has effect as if this Act, to the extent that it is so declared to cease to apply, had been repealed by another Act on the date specified in the Proclamation.

(8) A Proclamation under subsection (7) may provide that this Act shall continue to be applicable to and in relation to specified Dutch relics, or Dutch relics of a specified class, removed from the waters to which the Proclamation relates and in that event this Act shall have effect accordingly.

(9) Subsections (4) and (5) have effect as if the Northern Territory were a State.

(9A) Nothing contained in, or done under, subsection (4) affects the application of this Act to or in relation to a Papua New Guinea shipwreck or a Papua New Guinea relic and a Proclamation under that subsection in relation to waters adjacent to Queensland shall declare that the Proclamation does not affect the application of this Act to or in relation to any wrecked vessel or article that is a Papua New Guinea shipwreck or Papua New Guinea relic within the meaning of this Act.

(9B) Where the Governor-General is satisfied that arrangements made, apart from this Act, with respect to a Papua New Guinea shipwreck or Papua New Guinea shipwrecks or a Papua New Guinea relic or Papua New Guinea relics make it appropriate to do so, the Governor-General may, by Proclamation, declare that this Act shall, on a date specified in the Proclamation, cease to apply to and in relation to that Papua New Guinea shipwreck or those Papua New Guinea shipwrecks, or that Papua New Guinea relic or those Papua New Guinea relics and, where such a Proclamation is made, section 8 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 has effect as if this Act, to the extent that it is so declared to cease to apply, had been repealed by another Act on the date specified in the Proclamation.

(10) Where a Proclamation is expressed to be made in accordance with a specified subsection of this section, it shall be conclusively presumed that any request or consent of, or notification by, the Government of a State, or any other condition precedent, that is

(5) Where the Minister is of the opinion that the remains of a ship (not being a military vessel wrecked after the commencement of this subsection) that are situated in Australian waters or in waters above the continental shelf of Australia are of historic or special significance to Papua New Guinea, the Minister may, by notice published in the Gazette, declare those remains to be a Papua New Guinea shipwreck.

(6) Where the Minister is of the opinion that a particular article that was, or particular articles that were, associated with a ship (not being a military vessel wrecked after the commencement of this subsection), or all articles that were associated with a particular ship (not being a military vessel wrecked after the commencement of this subsection), being an article that is, or articles that are, situated in Australian waters or in waters above the continental shelf of Australia, is or are of historic or special significance to Papua New Guinea, the Minister may, by notice published in the Gazette, declare the article or articles to be a Papua New Guinea relic or Papua New Guinea relics.

Part II  Protection of historic shipwrecks and relics

Section 7

(3) The Minister may make a declaration under subsection (1) or (2) in relation to any article that has, or articles that have, been removed from Australian waters or from waters above the continental shelf of Australia in like manner as the Minister may make a declaration under that subsection in relation to an article or articles situated in those waters.

(4) Where:
(a) a declaration has been made under this section in relation to an article that was situated in any waters; and the declaration continues to apply in relation to that article notwithstanding its removal from those waters.

(5) A notice under this section remains in force, unless sooner revoked, until the expiration of 5 years from the date of publication of the notice in the Gazette, but the revocation or expiration of a notice under this section does not prevent the publication in the Gazette of a further notice under this section in relation to an article or articles to which the revoked or expired notice applied.

7 Protected zones

(1) Subject to subsection (1A), the Minister may, by notice published in the Gazette, declare an area (not exceeding 200 hectares) consisting of sea or partly of sea and partly of land within which a historic shipwreck is, or a historic relic is or historic relics are, situated to be a protected zone.

(3A) Where a declaration under section 4A is revoked in relation to the remains of a ship or to an article, any notice under this section in relation to the remains or to the article ceases to be in force, but this subsection does not prevent the publication in the Gazette of a further notice under this section in relation to the remains or to the article if a notice is published in the Gazette under section 5 or 6 in relation to the remains or to the article.

(4) Where a notice under section 5 or 6 in relation to the remains of a ship or in relation to an article or articles is revoked or otherwise ceases to be in force, any notice under this section in relation to the remains or in relation to the article or articles ceases to be in force but this subsection does not prevent the publication in the Gazette of a further notice under this section in relation to the remains or in relation to the article or articles if a further notice is published in the Gazette under section 5 or 6 in relation to the remains or in relation to the article or articles.

ARRANGEMENT SETTING OUT THE GUIDING PRINCIPLES FOR THE COMMITTEE TO DETERMINE THE DISPOSITION OF MATERIAL FROM THE SHIPWRECKS OF DUTCH EAST INDIA COMPANY VESSELS OFF THE COAST OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA

THE COMMITTEE

Responsibility
The Committee’s responsibility will embrace all material recovered from the wrecks—whether recovered before or after the coming into operation of the Western Australian Museum Act in December 1964 which contains provisions for vesting in the Museum title to the wrecks of the Batavia, the Gilt Dragon, the Zuytdorp and Zeewyk.

Conduct of Business
The Committee is small enough to meet if occasion demands but most of its work could be done by correspondence.

General Principles

Representative collections
The cost of recovery (including treatment) is likely to exceed by far the intrinsic or antiquarian sale-value of material recovered. The Government of Western Australia is spending considerable sums on this work ($92,000 in the last financial year) and estimates that the total cost will be $2,000,000 or more. Although a division would not be warranted by consideration of cash value alone, the historic, educational, scientific and international considerations are such as to make the deposition of representative collections in the museums of the Netherlands and Australia most desirable. The remainder of the material would be held in the Western Australian Museum.

Considerations governing the partition of archaeological collections
In modern archaeological practice sites are no longer regarded merely as a source of important individual items, but rather as a body of material whose collective value far outweighs the importance of the individual pieces and in which the relationship of the individual objects within the sample are a major part of its historical value. Accordingly, the sharing of material from an archaeological site is best regarded as the accommodation in several localities of a corporate entity rather than its division into parts.

If the decision is made that the contents of an archaeological site are to be apportioned between two or more institutions, the first principle to be observed is that the total assemblage should be capable of reassembly to allow further statistical and scholarly analysis. It follows, therefore, that unnecessary splitting of a sample of closely similar objects capable of statistical treatment should be avoided and, where samples are accommodated in more than one institution, those institutions should contract not to disperse them further and, moreover, to agree to allow samples to be brought together for analysis and study as required. The second principle is that where unique or rare objects, themselves, form a meaningful assemblage within the whole, this assemblage should not be split or, if split, perfect replicas be made to complete the assemblage. As in the case of the division of statistical samples an agreement should be made between the recipients to reconstitute the original assemblage if it is required for scholarly research.

Treatment of material recovered

The contents of the ancient shipwrecks of the Dutch East India Company include abundant statistical samples such as coin, bricks, objects of pottery, elephant tusks, and so on. There are also many articles which are less abundant but which are duplicated many times over. Many of these are ship fittings such as cannon, anchors, cannon balls, etc. There are also other articles which are relatively rare, or even unique, in the deposits (e.g. articles possessed by crew members, or passengers, such as barber’s instruments, navigational instruments, ornaments, etc.). Most articles are fragmentary and in need of immediate chemical conservation and stabilization in the laboratory as soon as they are recovered. This treatment cannot await distribution.

Operating Principles

Code of Operation

The Committee will operate by reviewing proposals for distribution made, from time to time, by the Director of the Western Australian Museum; it could decide that the proposed samples be increased or decreased in content in the light of the total material collected and other factors.
General aims

In its deliberations the Committee will have, as its general aim, the purpose of ensuring that representative series of statistical samples and sufficient examples of the rarer objects will be deposited in the museums of the Netherlands and Australia to convey the variety and contents of each wreck to both the public and to scholars while, at the same time, ensuring that major projects of scholarly research will not be impeded by overfragmentation of the collection. Dispersal in this way, among separate repositories will also help to ensure the permanent safety of representative material in the event of the destruction of any one repository.

Statistical samples

Most material so far recovered from the vessels are samples capable of statistical treatment.

A representative collection of the contents of each statistical sample should be made available to a museum of the Netherlands Government and a museum of the Commonwealth Government. Thus, in the case of coin, for example, both the Netherlands and Commonwealth Governments would receive as complete a series as possible representing the mintings and values contained within each of the wrecks. These will provide their museums with ample material of this class of objects for display purposes and sufficient to enable a scholar to make the initial qualitative studies which would possibly lead him to a more detailed statistical treatment of the bulk sample retained in the Western Australian Museum.

Less common or rare objects

In order to ensure that both the Netherlands and Commonwealth Governments acquire, in due course, representative collections of the less common and even unique objects, the following procedure will be adopted. Since the relationships of such objects to the whole sample cannot be known until excavation is complete, the distribution of specimens of this nature cannot be considered during the continuing process of recovery. However, at reasonable intervals (of say two or three years) it should be possible to assemble a representative sample with fair certainty that all duplicates of any rare object present in a particular excavation should have been recovered and their nature taken into consideration during the deliberations of the Committee.
