Schedule 1 Amendments

(sections 3)

[1] Section 1.3

substitute

1.3 Definitions — the dictionary etc

(1) The dictionary at the end of this numbering plan defines certain words and expressions, and includes references to certain words and expressions that are defined in the Act or elsewhere in the plan.

Example

The signpost definition ‘address format prefix see Part 2 of Schedule 5’ means that the expression address format prefix is defined in Part 2 of Schedule 5.

Note The dictionary only includes a signpost definition for a word or expression if the word or expression is used in more than 1 section of this plan.

(2) The dictionary is part of this plan.

(3) A definition in this plan applies to each use of the word or expression in the plan unless the contrary intention appears.

[2] After subsection 3.18 (1)

insert

(1A) However, the special services number ‘0011800’ may only be used as a prefix to a freephone subscriber number within the meaning of ITU Recommendation E.169.
Section 3.19

3.19 Carriage service provider identification codes

(1) A special services number in Part 3 of Schedule 4 is a carriage service provider identification code that may be used as an access code for a call of a kind:

(a) that:

(i) is listed in a determination in force under subsection 349 (1) or (2) of the Act; or

(ii) uses services that the originating carriage service provider, and other carriage service providers for the call, agree are pre-selectable services or services for which override is available; and

(b) for which the number that follows the access code is another number specified in this numbering plan.

(2) A carriage service provider identification code:

(a) may be used:

(i) to identify a telecommunications network, with or without the number for the call having been called; or

(ii) to interconnect routing of a call between carriage service providers, with or without the number for the call having been called; and

(b) may prefix:

(i) another number specified in this numbering plan; or

(ii) an address digit for routing a call across a point of interconnection.

(3) This section does not prevent another number being used in connection with the supply of a selectable carriage service.
