- (2) Subregulation (1) ceases to apply in relation to the regulated principal at the end of the transition period in relation to the regulated principal.

10.2.43 Status of insurance agent: section 1436A of the Act

For section 1436A of the Act, and to avoid doubt, if an insurer is:

- (a) a financial services licensee; and
 - (b) a principal mentioned in paragraph 1436A(2)(d) in relation to an insurance agent mentioned in paragraph 1436A(2)(a);
- the insurance agent is taken not to be a representative of the insurer under section 910A of the Act.

- (2) Paragraph (1)(a) ceases to apply 2 years after the FSR commencement.

Note: Generally, providers of financial services (other than new entrants to the industry) will have 2 years from the FSR commencement to obtain a licence under the new regime. During this transition period, the existing legislative regime (if any) will be preserved for, and will continue to apply to, those providers.

The arrangements for the transition period are set out in Subdivision D of Division 1 of Part 10.2 of the Corporations Act.

Therefore, there will be an individual date at which the new legislative regime will begin to apply to those providers. The date will be some time between the FSR commencement and the end of the transition period (2 years after the FSR commencement), and may be the date on which the provider is granted an Australian financial services licence. It may be appropriate, in some cases, for the date of effect of the Australian financial services licence to be later than the date on which the licence is physically granted.

This arrangement ceases to apply 2 years after the end of the FSR commencement. However, the date of effect of a licence will not be affected by the end of the arrangement.

- (2) ASIC may vary the authority to take account of the fact that the person has become a financial services licensee, or is exempt from the requirement to hold a financial services licence.

Division 14—Financial services disclosure

10.2.48 Obligation to give Financial Services Guide for service arranged before application of Part 7.7 of the Act

For section 1444 of the Act, sections 941A and 941B of the Act are taken not to require a person to give a client a Financial Services Guide in accordance with Division 2 of Part 7.7 of the Act in relation to a financial service (the new financial service) if, before the person became subject to Part 7.7 of the Act in relation to the provision of the new financial service:

- (a) the person was a regulated principal, or a representative of a regulated principal within the meaning of subsection 1436(1) of the Act, whose regulated activities included the provision of financial services of the same kind as the new financial service; and
- (b) the person entered into an agreement with the client, to provide the new financial service; and
- (c) the client took all of the steps necessary for the person to be able to provide the new financial service.

Note: When Part 7.7 of the Act begins to apply to a person, the person will be under an obligation to provide a Financial Services Guide to a retail client to which it provides financial services. The Financial Services Guide should be given before the financial service is provided (see sections 941A, 941B and 941D of the Act).

However, this could create difficulties if the person, or an authorised representative, has an existing client, and has entered into an arrangement with the client before Part 7.7 started to apply. The obligation to give a Financial Services Guide would arise when Part 7.7 begins to apply, but, under the arrangement, the financial service might have to be provided very shortly afterwards. This might make the giving of the Financial Services Guide in accordance with section 941D difficult.

10.2.48A Obligation to give a Financial Services Guide for a custodial and depository service

- (1) For section 1444 of the Act, sections 941A and 941B of the Act are taken not to require a person to give a Financial Services Guide to

Regulation 10.2.49

a client, in accordance with Division 2 of Part 7.7 of the Act, in relation to a financial service (the new financial service), if:

- (a) the new financial service constitutes:
 - (i) the provision of a custodial or depository service under section 766E of the Act; or
 - (ii) dealing in a financial product that is held on trust for or on behalf of the client as a necessary part of the custodial or depository service; or
 - (iii) issuing, to the client, a financial product that is a beneficial interest in a financial product held on trust for or on behalf of the client as a necessary part of the custodial or depository service; and
 - (b) the person entered into the arrangement under which the custodial or depository service is provided, before the FSR commencement; and
 - (c) the arrangement continued unaltered after the person became subject to Part 7.7 of the Act.
- (2) For paragraph (1)(c), an arrangement is taken to continue unaltered if:
- (a) the person holds, under the arrangement, financial products that are different financial products from those held under the arrangement before the person became subject to Part 7.7 of the Act; and
 - (b) none of the different financial products is held on instruction from the client.
- (3) Subparagraph (1)(a)(ii) does not apply to dealing in a financial product if the dealing consists of the issue of a financial product to a person other than the client to whom the custodial or depository service is provided.

10.2.49 Obligation to give Financial Services Guide in relation to existing clients

- (1) For section 1444 of the Act, section 941D of the Act is taken not to require a person to give a client a Financial Services Guide in relation to a financial service (the new financial service) within the period specified in that section if, in the period of 6 months ending

Regulation 10.2.50

on the day immediately before Part 7.7 of the Act first applies to the person in relation to the provision of financial services of the same kind as the new financial service, the person had provided a financial service to the client of the same kind as the new financial service.

- (2) For subregulation (1), section 941D of the Act is also taken to require the person to give the client the Financial Services Guide:
 - (a) as soon as is reasonably practicable; and
 - (b) in any event, within the period of 14 days starting on the day on which the person would have been required by section 941D of the Act to provide a Financial Services Guide if subregulation (1) did not apply.
- (3) This regulation ceases to apply in relation to the person at the end of 14 days after the day on which Part 7.7 of the Act first applies to the person in relation to the provision of financial services of the same kind as the new financial service.

10.2.50 Content of Financial Services Guide for an authorised representative that is a regulated principal or a representative of a regulated principal

- (1) This regulation applies if a person:
 - (a) is a regulated principal, or a representative of a regulated principal within the meaning of subsection 1436(1) of the Act; and
 - (b) is also in the transition period in the capacity of:
 - (i) a regulated principal; or
 - (ii) a representative of a regulated principal; and
 - (c) is also a financial services licensee or an authorised representative of a financial services licensee.
- (2) Paragraphs 942B(2)(c) and 942C(2)(d) of the Act are taken to require the person:
 - (a) to provide a statement, in addition to a Financial Services Guide, to the effect that the person is able to provide financial services as:
 - (i) a regulated principal; or

Regulation 10.2.50A

- (ii) a representative of a regulated principal; and
- (b) to include in the statement:
 - (i) a brief description of the kinds of financial services provided in that capacity; and

 - (b) the following matters are also taken to apply in relation to the person:
 - (i) any regulations or other instruments in force for section 940C;
 - (ii) any interpretation provisions that apply for section 940C;
 - (iii) any provisions relating to liability (civil or criminal) that apply for section 940C (whether or not they also apply or applied for other purposes);
 - (iv) any provisions that limit, or that otherwise affect, the operation of section 940C (whether or not they also limit or limited, or affect or affected, the operation of other provisions); and
 - (c) for Part 7.7 of the Act, the statement:
 - (i) is taken not to be a part of the Financial Services Guide; and
 - (ii) is taken not to be a statement that the person is required to include in a Financial Services Guide.
- (4) The person must not fail to give the statement in accordance with this regulation.

Penalty: 50 penalty units.

10.2.50A Treatment of arrangements under which a person can instruct another person to acquire a financial product

- (1) For section 1444 of the Act, this regulation applies in relation to a custodial arrangement (within the meaning of section 1012IA of the Act) in which the client is the holder of a superannuation product issued to the client by the provider.

Regulation 10.2.50A

- (2) Section 1012IA of the Act does not apply to a regulated acquisition (within the meaning of that section) that occurs under the custodial arrangement.
- (3) Subregulation (2) ceases to apply at the end of 2 years after the FSR commencement.

Division 20—Rules for dealing with liability during transition period

10.2.100 Application of Division 20

- (1) This Division sets out rules for determining the liability of a responsible person under:
- (a) the relevant old legislation; or
 - (b) the amended Corporations Act;
- in relation to conduct engaged in, during the transition period, by a representative in respect of more than 1 principal.

Note: The Corporations Act 2001 has been amended by the Financial Services Reform (Consequential Provisions) Act 2001. The Consequential Provisions Act includes a two-year transition period during which certain conduct, described in Part 10.2 of the Corporations Act, will be regulated under either the legal regime in force before the amendments or under the new version of the Corporations Act.

If a person continues a business during the transition period, and is to be regulated under the legal regime in force before the amendments, the person will be subject to the relevant law that regulated (or would have regulated) their conduct before the amendments. This is referred to in section 1430 of the Corporations Act as the ‘relevant old legislation’.

Therefore, after the commencement of the amendments, a person may be a principal under either or both legal regime. This Division deals with the liability of either kind of principal in relation to a client and the conduct of a representative of that principal.

- (2) Nothing in this Division is intended to apply a provision of the relevant old legislation to a person that is not a regulated principal.
