16.11 Joinder of issue

- (1) If no reply to a defence is filed, a joinder of issue is implied in relation to any allegation of fact in the defence and each allegation of fact is taken to be denied.
- (2) If, in a reply, a party admits, or expressly pleads to an allegation of fact, a joinder of issue operates as a denial of any other allegation of fact in the pleading.

Note: A joinder of issues means that the fact alleged in the pleading is taken to be denied. Joinder of issue only relates to any pleading subsequent to a defence.

16.12 Close of pleadings

- (1) As between an applicant and a respondent, the pleadings close at the end of the latest of the times fixed by these Rules for filing a defence or reply, or other pleading between those parties.
- (2) The pleadings close under subrule (1) even if a request or order for particulars has not been complied with.

 - (c) is evasive or ambiguous; or
 - (d) is likely to cause prejudice, embarrassment or delay in the proceeding; or
 - (e) fails to disclose a reasonable cause of action or defence or other case appropriate to the nature of the pleading; or

Rules 16.34–16.40 left blank

Rule 16.41

Division 16.4—Particulars

16.41 General

- (1) A party must state in a pleading, or in a document filed and served with the pleading, the necessary particulars of each claim, defence or other matter pleaded by the party.

Note: See rule 16.45.

- (2) Nothing in rules 16.42 to 16.45 is intended to limit subrule (1).

Note 1: The object of particulars is to limit the generality of the pleadings by:

- (a) informing an opposing party of the nature of the case the party has to meet; and
- (b) preventing an opposing party being taken by surprise at the trial; and
- (c) enabling the opposing party to collect whatever evidence is necessary and available.

Note 2: The function of particulars is not to fill a gap in a pleading by providing the material facts that the pleading must contain.

Note 3: A party does not plead to the opposite party's particulars.

Note 4: Particulars should, if they are necessary, be contained in the pleading but they may be separately stated if sought by the opposite party or ordered by the Court.

16.42 Fraud, misrepresentation etc

A party who pleads fraud, misrepresentation, unconscionable conduct, breach of trust, wilful default or undue influence must state in the pleading particulars of the facts on which the party relies.

16.43 Conditions of mind

- (1) A party who pleads a condition of mind must state in the pleading particulars of the facts on which the party relies.
- (2) If a party pleads that another party ought to have known something, the party must give particulars of the facts and circumstances from which the other party ought to have acquired the knowledge.

- (3) In this rule:

condition of mind, for a party, means:

- (a) knowledge; and
- (b) any disorder or disability of the party's mind; and
- (c) any fraudulent intention of the party.

16.44 Damages and exemplary damages

- (1) A party who claims damages that includes money that the party has paid, or is liable to pay, must state in a pleading the amount of the money paid or liable to be paid.
- (2) If the party claims exemplary damages, the pleading must also state particulars of the facts on which the claim is based.

16.45 Application for order for particulars

- (1) If a pleading does not give a party fair notice of the case to be made against that party at trial and, as a result, the party may be prejudiced in the conduct of the party's case, the party may apply to the Court for an order that the party who filed the pleading serve on the party:
 - (a) particulars of the claim, defence or other matter stated in the pleading; or
 - (b) a statement of the nature of the case relied on; or
 - (c) if there is a claim for damages—particulars of the damages claimed.
- (2) An application under subrule (1) may be made only if:
 - (a) the particulars in the pleading are inadequate; and
 - (b) the party seeking the order could not conduct the party's case without further particulars.
- (3) A respondent who applies to the Court for an order under subrule (1) before filing the respondent's defence must satisfy the Court that an order is necessary or desirable to enable the respondent to plead.

Note: The intent of the pleading rules is that a party should include all material facts in its pleadings as initially filed so that there is no

Division 16.5—Amendment of pleadings

16.51 Amendment without needing the leave of the Court

- (1) A party may amend a pleading once, at any time before the pleadings close, without the leave of the Court.
- (2) However, a party may not amend a pleading if the pleading has previously been amended in accordance with the leave of the Court.
- (3) A party may further amend a pleading at any time before the pleadings close if each other party consents to the amendment.
- (4) An amendment may be made to plead a fact or matter that has occurred or arisen since the proceeding started.

Note 1: The object of this rule is to ensure that all necessary amendments may be made to enable the real questions between the parties to be decided and to avoid multiplicity of proceedings.

Note 2: For when the pleadings close, see rule 16.12.

16.52 Disallowance of amendment of pleading

- (1) If a party amends a pleading under rule 16.51(1), another party may apply to the Court for an order disallowing the amendment.
- (2) If a party purports to amend a pleading under rule 16.51(3) without obtaining the consent of another party, any other party may apply to the Court for an order disallowing the amendment.
- (3) A party applying for an order under subrule (1) or (2) must apply by interlocutory application within 14 days after the date on which the amended pleading was served on the party.

Note: The Court will disallow the amendment if the Court is satisfied that it would not have given leave on the date on which the amendment was made.

Rule 16.53

16.53 Application for leave to amend

Unless rule 16.51 applies, a party must apply for the leave of the Court to amend a pleading.

16.54 Date on which amendment takes effect

An amendment of a pleading that is made under rule 16.51 takes effect on the date the amendment is made.

16.55 Consequential amendment of defence

- (1) The respondent may amend the defence if:
 - (a) an applicant amends the statement of claim; and
 - (b) the respondent has filed a defence before being served with a copy of the amended statement of claim.
- (2) The amended defence must identify the statement of claim to which it relates.
- (3) The right to amend the defence under subrule (1) is in addition to the right to amend a pleading under rule 16.51.
- (4) The respondent must file an amended defence within 28 days after the respondent is served with a copy of the amended statement of claim.

16.56 Consequential amendment of reply

- (1) The applicant may amend the reply if:
 - (a) a respondent amends the defence; and
 - (b) the applicant has filed a reply before being served with a copy of the amended defence.
- (2) The amended reply must identify the defence to which it relates.
- (3) The right to amend the reply under subrule (1) is in addition to the right to amend a pleading under rule 16.51.
- (4) The applicant must file an amended reply within 14 days after the applicant is served with a copy of the amended defence.

Rule 16.57

Note: For when an amended reply must be filed, see rule 16.58.

16.57 Implied joinder of issue after amendment

- (1) If a party does not amend a defence or reply when entitled to do so under rules 16.55 or 16.56, the party's existing defence or reply operates as a pleading in answer to the other party's amended pleading.
- (2) Rule 16.11 does not apply to the pleadings but, if no further pleading between the parties is filed, there is taken to be, at the close of pleadings, an implied joinder of issue in relation to the second pleading.

16.58 Time for amending pleading under Court order

An order that a party be permitted to amend a pleading ceases to have effect unless the party amends the pleading in accordance with the order within:

- (a) the period specified in the order; or
- (b) if no period is specified in the order—14 days after the date of the order.

Note: If the Court permits a party to amend a pleading, the Court may also make orders about the procedure for amending the pleading and serving the amended pleading.

16.59 Procedure for making amendment to pleading

- (1) A party entitled to amend a pleading without the leave of the Court, or a party who has been given leave to amend a pleading, must, if reasonably practicable to do so:
 - (a) make the alterations on the pleading; and
 - (b) write on the pleading the following information:
 - (i) the date on which the amendment is made;
 - (ii) the date on which the order permitting the amendment was made.
- (2) If the amendments to the pleading are so numerous or lengthy to make it difficult to read, or if the pleading was lodged by electronic communication, the applicant must file an amended pleading that:

Rule 16.60

- (a) incorporates and distinguishes the amendments; and
- (b) is marked with the information mentioned in subrule (1).

16.60 Service of amendment

If a pleading is amended after it has been served, the party who made the amendment must, as soon as reasonably practicable, serve a copy of the revised pleading on the parties on whom the previous pleading was served.

Part 17—Interlocutory applications

17.01 Interlocutory application

- (1) A party who wants to apply for an order in a proceeding that has already started must file an interlocutory application, in accordance with Form 35, that must:
 - (a) state, briefly but specifically, each order that is sought; and
 - (b) if appropriate, be accompanied by an affidavit.
- (2) The party filing the interlocutory application must serve the interlocutory application and any accompanying affidavit on any other party at least 3 days before the date fixed for the hearing.
- (3) However, a party may make an oral application for an interlocutory order at a hearing.

Example: If a party is seeking to have a proceeding dismissed as disclosing no cause of action, the application should be made by interlocutory application.

Note 1: Interlocutory application is defined in the Dictionary.

Note 2: File is defined in the Dictionary as meaning file and serve.

Note 3: On the filing of an interlocutory application, the Registrar will fix the return date and place for hearing and endorse those details on the interlocutory application for service.

17.02 Reliance on correspondence or undisputed documents

- (1) An interlocutory application need not be accompanied by an affidavit if a party (the first party) wants to rely on correspondence or other documents, the authenticity of which is not in dispute.
- (2) However:
 - (a) the first party must provide a list of the correspondence or other documents to each other party; and
 - (b) each other party must notify the first party of any further documents that should be added to the list; and
 - (c) the first party must file the documents mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b); and

Rule 17.03

- (d) if the documents mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b) number more than 6 documents, the documents must be indexed and paginated.

17.03 Service on others

A party may apply to the Court for an order that the interlocutory application be served:

- (a) on a party who has not filed a notice of address for service; and
- (b) on a person who is not then a party.

17.04 Hearing and determination of interlocutory application—absence of party

An interlocutory application may be heard and determined in the absence of a party if:

- (a) service of the interlocutory application on that party is not required; or
- (b) service has been effected but the party does not appear; or
- (c) the Court has dispensed with service.

Part 18—Interpleader proceedings

Division 18.1—Stakeholder's interpleader

18.01 Application for relief by way of interpleader

A person (the stakeholder) may apply to the Court for relief by way of interpleader if:

- (a) the stakeholder is liable for a debt or personal property in the stakeholder's possession (the property in dispute); and
- (b) the stakeholder:
 - (i) does not know the identity of the person to whom the property in dispute is owed or belongs; or
 - (ii) has received competing claims about the property in dispute; or
 - (iii) expects to be sued in the Court for the property in dispute by 2 or more persons making adverse claims.

Note: Interpleader is a special procedure available to a person who is faced with 2 or more claims about the same debt or personal property. The procedure enables the competing claimants to litigate their difference while the stakeholder abides by the result.

18.02 How application to be made

- (1) An application for relief by way of interpleader must be made:
 - (a) if a proceeding has been started against the stakeholder in relation to the property in dispute—by filing an interlocutory application in the proceeding; or
 - (b) if paragraph (a) does not apply—by filing an originating application, joining each claimant as a respondent.
- (2) If an application is made under paragraph (1)(a), the interlocutory application must be served:
 - (a) on each party to the proceeding who claims any interest in the property in dispute; and
 - (b) personally on each claimant who is not a party to the proceeding.

Rule 18.03

18.03 Orders that may be sought

- (1) A stakeholder may, in an application for relief by way of interpleader, apply for:
 - (a) if a proceeding has been started against the stakeholder in relation to the property in dispute—an order that any claimant be added as a respondent in that proceeding in addition to, or in substitution for, the stakeholder; or
 - (b) an order that the stakeholder pay or transfer part or all of the property in dispute into Court or otherwise to dispose of part or all of the property in dispute; or
 - (c) an order for the sale of part or all of the property in dispute and for the application of the proceeds of sale.
- (2) A party may apply to the Court for an order determining any or all questions of fact or law, in which the party is interested, arising on the application.

18.04 Default by claimant

- (1) A stakeholder may apply to the Court for an order that the claimant and those claiming under the claimant be barred from starting or continuing a proceeding against the stakeholder and those claiming under the stakeholder if:
 - (a) a claimant has been served with an application for relief by way of interpleader and does not appear at the hearing; or
 - (b) a claimant does not comply with an order made on the application.
- (2) An order under subrule (1) does not affect the claimants' rights amongst themselves.

18.05 Neutrality of stakeholder

If a stakeholder applies for relief by way of interpleader, the Court will dismiss the application unless the Court is satisfied that the stakeholder:

- (a) claims no interest in the property in dispute except for charges or costs; and
- (b) has not colluded with any claimant.

Note: This rule does not affect the Court's power to dismiss the application or to pronounce judgment against the stakeholder for other reasons.

18.06 Order in several proceedings

- (1) A stakeholder may apply to the Court for orders in any or all of several proceedings if:
 - (a) an application for relief by way of interpleader is made; and
 - (b) 2 or more of the proceedings are pending in the Court for or in relation to part or all of the property in dispute.
- (2) An order under subrule (1) is binding on each party in the proceeding in which it is made.

- (2) If the execution creditor serves a notice of admission, the execution creditor is not liable to the Sheriff for any fees or expenses incurred by the Sheriff under the process after the notice is served.
- (3) On being served with a notice of admission, the Sheriff must withdraw from possession of the property claimed.
- (4) However, the Sheriff may apply to the Court for an order that the person whose claim is admitted be restrained from starting or continuing any proceeding in any Court against the Sheriff for an act or thing done by the Sheriff in execution of the processes.
- (5) An application under subrule (4) must be made:
 - (a) if a proceeding has been started in the Court against the Sheriff—by filing an interlocutory application in the proceeding; or
 - (b) if paragraph (a) does not apply—by filing an interlocutory application in the proceeding in which the process is issued.

18.14 Application by Sheriff for interpleader

- (1) The Sheriff may apply to the Court for relief by way of interpleader if:

- (3) The Sheriff must serve the interlocutory application on each party to the proceeding who claims an interest in the property in dispute and on each claimant.

Note: The Court may require the Sheriff to satisfy the Court:
