

Financial Sector (Collection of Data) (reporting standard) determination No. 105 of 2023

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Prepared by the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA)

Financial Sector (Collection of Data) Act 2001, sections 13 and 15

Acts Interpretation Act 1901, section 33

Under subsection 13(1) of the Financial Sector (Collection of Data) Act 2001 (the Act), APRA has the power to determine reporting standards, in writing, with which financial sector entities must comply. Such standards relate to reporting financial or accounting data and other information regarding the business or activities of the entities. Subsection 33(3) of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 provides that where an Act confers a power to issue an instrument the power shall, unless the contrary intention appears, be construed as including a power exercisable in the like manner and subject to the like conditions (if any) to revoke any such instrument.

Subsection 15(1) of the Act provides that APRA may declare a day on and after which the reporting standards are to apply.

On 2 June 2023, APRA made:

- (1) Financial Sector (Collection of Data) (reporting standard) determination No. 105 of 2023 which:
 - (i) determines a new Reporting Standard HRS 115.0 Insurance Risk Charge.

The instrument commences upon registration on the Federal Register of Legislation.

1. Background

Since assuming prudential regulatory responsibility for the private health insurance (PHI) industry in 2015, APRA has progressively reviewed and updated the prudential policy framework. APRA released a PHI Roadmap in August 2016 outlining its plans to conduct a review of the PHI capital framework¹. APRA commenced consultation on the reviewed PHI capital framework in December 2019, releasing finalised prudential and reporting standards that incorporated industry feedback in September 2022.

In July 2017, the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) adopted the International Financial Reporting Standard 17 into AASB 17 Insurance Contracts (AASB 17). AASB 17 commenced 1 January 2023.

AASB 17 replaces three existing accounting standards used by private health insurers. These accounting standards govern the performance and liability valuation reporting of insurance contracts. APRA developed the PHI capital and reporting standards based on AASB 17 concepts where possible and appropriate. Aligning APRA's prudential and reporting framework with AASB 17 also reduces regulatory burden by limiting the need for private health insurers to maintain dual valuation, actuarial, accounting and reporting systems.

The new reporting standards apply to reporting periods ending on or after 1 July 2023.

2. Purpose and operation of the instrument

The purpose of the instrument is to determine a new Reporting Standard HRS 115.0 Insurance Risk Charge. This Reporting Standard sets out requirements for the provision of information to APRA relating to a private health insurer's insurance risk charge.

The new reporting standard will ensure that APRA's reporting framework aligns with its prudential framework and Australian Accounting Standards. Private health insurers will be required to provide data to APRA in accordance with the standard, allowing APRA to supervise their compliance against the new capital requirements.

Explanation of each provision in the instrument

Authority – paragraph 1

This paragraph outlines APRA's power to determine reporting standards that are required to be complied with by financial sector entities under paragraph 13(1)(a) of the Act.

Purpose – paragraph 2

This paragraph explains the purpose of APRA's collection of information under the reporting standard. Information collected under this reporting standard will be used by APRA for the purpose of prudential supervision.

Application and commencement – paragraph 3

This provision states which financial sector entities must comply with the reporting standard as permitted by section 13 of the Act, and when the reporting standard begins to apply to these financial sector entities as provided for in section 15 of the Act.

Information required – paragraph 4

This provision states what information financial sector entities must provide to APRA for each reporting period as permitted by paragraph 13(2)(b) of the Act.

Method of submission – paragraph 5

This provision specifies how information required by the reporting standard must be given to APRA as permitted by paragraph 13(2)(e) of the Act.

Reporting periods and due dates – paragraphs 6-9

Paragraphs 13(2)(d)-(f) of the Act permit reporting standards determined by APRA to include matters related to the times as at which, or the periods to which, the information in reporting documents is to relate, the giving of reporting documents to APRA, and when they should be provided, and the discretion of APRA, in particular cases, to vary reporting standards, including, but not limited to, the discretion to vary when entities are to provide documents.

Paragraphs 6-9 rely on these provisions. Paragraph 6 states that private health insurers are to provide the information required by this reporting standard in respect of each calendar quarter, and in respect of each year ending 30 June. Paragraph 7 provides for APRA to vary the reporting periods mentioned in paragraph 6 in writing, if, having regard to the particular circumstances of a financial sector entity, APRA considers it necessary or desirable to obtain information at a different frequency than stated in paragraph 6. Paragraph 8 specifies the due dates for provision of information to APRA – quarterly information must be provided to APRA within 28 calendar days after the end of the reporting period, and annual information by 30 September each year. Paragraph 8 also states that in the case of information provided in accordance with paragraph 7, the due date will be as stated on the written notice. Paragraph 9 states that APRA may grant an extension of a due date in paragraph 8 in writing.

Quality control – paragraph 10

Paragraph 10 states that information provided under this reporting standard must be subject to systems, processes and controls developed by the entity for the internal review and authorisation of that information.

Annual audit requirements – paragraphs 11-14

Paragraph (13)(2)(bb) of the Act permits reporting standards determined by APRA to include matters related to the auditing of reporting documents.

Paragraphs 11-14 rely on these provisions. These paragraphs state which information is to be externally audited, due dates for audit certification and opinion, examination of matters in previous years' auditor's reports, and contents of the auditor's report.

Authorisation – paragraph 15

Paragraph 15 states that a person who submits the information required under this Reporting Standard must be suitably authorised by an officer of the private health insurer.

Variations – paragraph 16

Paragraph 16 states that APRA may vary the requirements of this reporting standard in relation to a financial sector entity in writing, as permitted by paragraph 13(2)(f) of the Act.

Interpretation – paragraphs 17-18

Paragraph 17 provides definitions of common terms used throughout this reporting standard. Paragraph 18 states that unless the contrary intention appears, a reference to an Act, Prudential Standard, Reporting Standard, Australian Accounting or Auditing Standard is a reference to the instrument as in force from time to time.

Review of decisions

There are a number of powers that may be exercised by APRA in reporting standards that involve an element of discretion and which may impact the interests of the private health insurers to which the reporting standards apply. These decisions include APRA changing a reporting period or due date for a private health insurer to provide information required by each of the instruments. Decisions made by APRA exercising those powers are not subject to merits review.

APRA considers decisions made by APRA exercising discretions under its reporting standards should not be subject to merits review as they are financial decisions with a significant public interest element.

APRA's reporting standards collect financial data from regulated entities. This data contains critical indicators of a regulated entity's financial wellbeing. APRA relies heavily on this financial data to inform its supervisory actions towards its regulated entities. Without timely and complete data, APRA may miss indicators that a private health insurer is taking on imprudent risk or is in distress. APRA's supervisory decisions may be jeopardised if its receipt of data is unreliable due to entities seeking merits review under its reporting standards.

3. Consultation

APRA undertook public consultation on proposed updates to private health insurance reporting standards². Further details on the consultation are provided below.

² Review of the private health insurance capital framework | APRA

The final round of consultation for this Reporting Standard closed on 19 May 2023. No submissions were received on this round of consultation, which contained minor amendments to the finalised reporting standards released in September 2022.

Throughout the consultation period, which commenced in December 2021, submissions were received from private health insurers, industry bodies, and regulatory technology providers. APRA incorporated feedback received into the final versions of the reporting standards, including aligning with updates to the capital framework in response to industry feedback, adding clarification to reporting instructions and forms as requested by industry, and simplifying some reporting requirements in response to industry feedback.

APRA is satisfied the consultation was appropriate and reasonably practicable.
