SPECIAL ENTRY OF NAVAL CADETS TO THE ROYAL NAVY.

THE following Regulations for the Special Entry of Naval Cadets to the Royal Navy have been issued by the Admiralty, and are published for general information.

Copies of these Regulations may be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Defence, Melbourne.

T. TRUMBLE,
Acting Secretary.

REGULATIONS FOR THE SPECIAL ENTRY OF NAVAL CADETS.

NOTE.—The Regulations for the entry and training of Naval Cadets at the Royal Naval Colleges at Osborne and Dartmouth are contained in a separate document which can be obtained on application to the Secretary of the Admiralty, Whitehall, S.W. The scheme of entry through Osborne and Dartmouth is the main method by which Officers are admitted to the Royal Navy. During the years 1914, 1915, and 1916, however, a supplementary scheme of special admissions has been arranged, which is called the "Special Entry" Scheme. The Regulations regarding this "Special Entry" Scheme are contained in the present pamphlet.

1. A number of Naval Cadets will be admitted under the following Regulations in each of the years 1914, 1915, and 1916. The number to be admitted under these Regulations in 1914 will be about sixty.

2. Candidates for admission must be not more than 18½ nor less than 17½ years of age on the 1st of June of the year in which the examination is held. No nomination is required. Applications should be made to the Secretary of the Admiralty, Whitehall, S.W., not later than the 1st April. A form of application to be filled in by the parent or guardian of the candidate may be obtained from the Admiralty.

3. Candidates must be of pure European descent, and the sons either of natural-born or naturalized British subjects. In doubtful cases the burden of clear proof will rest upon the candidate.

Candidates must be unmarried.

4. Applicants who satisfy these conditions will be invited to appear before a Committee at the Admiralty. This Committee will interview each candidate and examine credentials furnished by the headmaster of the school he is attending or last attended. A report will be obtained beforehand from the headmaster for the information of the Committee as to the candidate's conduct, abilities, past training, and general promise of suitability. On the report of this Committee it will be determined whether the candidate shall be admitted to compete. Candidates will be required to pass at the same time a medical examination, according to the prescribed Regulations, as to their physical fitness for the Navy.

5. Every candidate must be in good health, and free from any physical defect of body, impediment of speech, defect of sight or hearing, and also from any predisposition to constitutional or hereditary disease or weakness of any kind, and be in all respects well developed and active in proportion to his age.

It should be particularly noted that full normal vision—as determined by Snellen's tests—is required for candidates for Naval Cadetships. A memorandum is issued by the Admiralty which gives details of the physical requirements of candidates.

6. Candidates admitted to compete will present themselves for examination in June by the Civil Service Commissioners. The subjects of examination and a syllabus of the subjects are shown in Appendix I. Any further particulars of the examination can be obtained from the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, Burlington Gardens, W.

By arrangement between the Admiralty and the War Office a candidate who is admitted to compete in the examination for special entry as a Naval Cadet may, if he so desires, and provided he fulfils all the necessary conditions, present himself at the same time for admission to the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, or Royal Military College, Sandhurst, or to supplementary first appointments in the Royal Marines, in which case he must express definitely his order of preference* before the examination has begun. For particulars of the conditions of entry to the Royal Military Academy and Royal Military College, application should be made to the Secretary, Civil Service Commission.

Regulations for supplementary first appointments in the Royal Marines may be obtained from the Secretary of the Admiralty.

* Following the Army Regulations, a Candidate may say that if he is not among the first (so many) successful competitors for the Royal Military Academy or the Royal Military College (as the case may be) he will elect for a Naval Cadetship.

7. A list of successful candidates in order of merit will be published by the Civil Service Commission.

8. Successful candidates will be appointed as Cadets to undergo a course of training for a period of 1½ years. During this period they will be accommodated on board a cruiser, part of the instruction being given on board and part on shore.

On completing this course, and passing out satisfactorily, they will join the Fleet as Midshipmen. They will become Midshipmen later in age than Cadets who enter through Osborne, but their services in that rank will be shorter, with the general result that except for the effect of the accelerated promotion which they may obtain by doing well in their final examinations, their age will usually be about a year more on attaining the rank of Lieutenant. This will be no bar to their advancement according to merit. The same subsequent career will be open to them as to officers who have entered the Navy through Osborne and Dartmouth.

9. Naval Cadets under training will be subject to the Regulations for the time being in force respecting such Cadets.

10. Parents or guardians are required to make a private allowance of £50 per annum to Cadets from the time they join the Naval Service until they reach the rank of Acting Sub-Lieutenant (namely, for a period of about three years and four months), and thereafter a private allowance at the rate of £20 a year for the period (usually not exceeding two months) that they remain Acting Sub-Lieutenants with pay at the rate of 3s. 6d. a day before becoming Sub-Lieutenants. On reaching the rank of Sub-Lieutenant, an officer is required to provide himself with the uniform of a Commissioned Officer.

11. Cadets will be paid 1s. a day from the time of entry until they become Midshipmen, when their pay will become 1s. 9d. a day. On reaching the rank of Sub-Lieutenant an officer will be paid 5s. a day. The commencing rate of pay of a Lieutenant, reached after at most two years as Sub-Lieutenant, is 10s. a day.

A Sub-Lieutenant can meet his mess and other necessary expenditure on the pay of 5s. a day.

12. The parent or guardian of every Cadet is required to provide outfit under the Regulations in force. A list of the outfit required under present Regulations is attached. The outfit, together with a sextant, costs about £60.

13. All travelling expenses for Cadets are advanced by the paymaster of the ship to which they are attached, but will be charged to the Cadet.

Such money as may be required by Cadets for any special circumstance will be advanced by the paymaster under the authority of their Commanding Officer.

14. Parents or guardians of Cadets must, in all cases of permanent change of residence, inform the Admiralty and the Commanding Officer of the ship in which their sons are serving.

15. Cadets may be required to withdraw at any time, if in the opinion of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty—

- (1) they fail to obtain a satisfactory standard, or
- (2) their conduct is unsatisfactory, or
- (3) they are considered unsuitable for the Naval Service.

16. It will be open to officers; after reaching Commissioned rank, to volunteer for service in any one of the special branches, undertaking either navigation, gunnery, torpedo, or engineering duty.

By Command of their Lordships,

W. GRAHAM GREENE.

Admiralty, November, 1913.

Both papers marked optional may be taken. Candidates will not be excluded who do not take the papers marked optional, but no candidate will be accepted who does not show a competent knowledge of mathematics as well as obtain a satisfactory aggregate in the examination.

Certificate A obtained in the "Officers' Training Corps" will entitle the holder to an addition of 200 marks.

The question papers (except in elementary engineering) will be the same as those taken in corresponding subjects in the military entrance examinations. A syllabus of the subjects is given below.

In the paper on elementary engineering the questions will be of a very elementary character, and knowledge of workshop practice will not be required.

Syllabus of Subjects.

ENGLISH.—Dictation. Essay:—Three alternative subjects to be given for an essay or letter, of which candidates may choose one. Précis. Reproduction of a passage read out. General Paper (to test general knowledge and intelligence).

Limits may be prescribed for the number of words that the précis and the reproduction should contain. Considerable latitude being allowed, the candidate can with sufficient accuracy estimate the number of words he has written by counting the number in five or six lines and making a proportional calculation. It is also useful for the candidate to have some idea of the number of words he is accustomed to write on a foolscap page. Failure to keep within the prescribed limits will entail loss of marks.

In each other subject, as well as in English, deductions for handwriting which is at all difficult to read will be made up to 10 per cent. of the maximum mark.

In English and in each other subject deductions for bad English spelling are made up to 10 per cent. of the maximum mark. A spelling recognised by any standard English dictionary is accepted as correct; recognition by an American dictionary is no guarantee of acceptance. English composition is taken into account in all subjects.

HISTORY.—The subject carries 1,400 marks. The history of England from 1558 to the end of the reign of Queen Victoria. Special attention should be paid to the growth of the British Empire. Questions will be set which will give the candidate an opportunity of showing his knowledge of European history as affecting English history during this period; such questions will deal only with the broad outlines of European history, and knowledge of detail will not be expected.

Questions may be set in the History Paper to test the candidates' knowledge of history and geography (within the limits of the syllabus) in relation to each other.

The following headings indicate the European subjects on which questions may be set. Some choice of questions will be allowed.

Decline of the power of Spain.
Decline of the power of Holland.
The ambitions of Louis XIV.
The rivalry of England and France for colonial empire in India and America.
Frederick the Great and the rise of Prussia.
The influence of the French Revolution.
The influence of Napoleon.
Bismarck and the Union of Germany; the wars with Denmark, Austria, France.
The movement of Russia in the Near East, Middle East, and Far East.

GEOGRAPHY.—The subject carries 600 marks.—The main physical features of the world with special reference to the British Empire. General political geography of the world, with special reference to British Possessions and Egypt, and the foreign frontier territories adjacent to them. Questions may be set in the Geography Paper to test the candidates' knowledge of history and geography (within the limits of the syllabus) in relation to each other.

FRENCH.—Translation from French. [The translation must be expressed in good English; merely to show that the French has been understood is not enough.] Translation into French. An essay or letter on one of two or more alternative subjects. Colloquial—(i) to talk in French, and (ii) to write a short dictated passage in French.

The colloquial test will carry 500 marks.

GERMAN.—As for French. German should be written in German characters.

LATIN.—Translation and prose composition. The translation must be expressed in good English; merely to show that the Latin has been understood is not enough.

*ELEMENTARY MATHEMATICS.—Arithmetic and Mensuration.—The ordinary rules of arithmetic. The metric system. Use of decimals in approximate calculation (contracted methods of calculation are not expected). Measurement of length; scale, vernier, calipers. Measurement of area by dimensions (rectilinear figures and circle), by squared paper, by weighing; area of cross-section of a tube. Measurement of volume by dimensions, by displacement (overflow, graduated jar, burette), by use of the principle of Archimedes. Measurement of weight, use of balance. Measurement of density or specific gravity.

Algebraic formulæ and symbols may be used. Questions will not be set on present value or "true" discount. The extraction of the cube root and the use and theory of recurring decimals are not required.

* Mathematics.—Credit will be given for the clearness and aptness of the language of the answers; deductions will be made for obscurity or slovenliness, and especially for bad grammar and the incorrect use of words or phrases. The use of mathematical symbols and of well-established abbreviations like lb. and cm. is permissible; a calculation can often be exhibited quite clearly without the use of words; and a tabular form is often appropriate; but incomplete sentences such as are customary in telegrams will be punished.

Geometry.—The elements of geometrical drawing and practical geometry. Measurement of angles, use of protractor. The substance of Books I. to III. of Euclid's Geometry, including application to the measurement of area. A working knowledge of as much of the properties of similar figures and solid figures as is necessary for plan-making and simple problems in mensuration.

Algebra.—To easy quadratic equations. The elementary use of graphs.

The solutions of equations should be worked out to a few significant figures; the candidates should be accustomed to test the accuracy of solutions by substitution. Skill in elaborate analysis, such as the simplification of complicated fractions, will not be looked for.

The questions in ELEMENTARY MATHEMATICS will test knowledge of fundamental principles and readiness in application to simple practical problems. Neatness and accuracy of working are expected; and the methods of solution employed must be clearly indicated. In the absence of special instructions that a question is to be answered by a particular method, candidates are at liberty to choose their own method from any branch of mathematics.

The examination in Elementary Mathematics will include a laboratory test. The laboratory test will carry 400 marks.

*INTERMEDIATE MATHEMATICS.—Includes Elementary Mathematics, together with :—

Arithmetic.—Use of four-figure logarithms will be required, use of slide-rule permitted.

Geometry.—Geometrical drawing and practical geometry of plane figures. The substance of Books I. to IV. and VI. of Euclid's Geometry. The elements of theoretical solid geometry with application to mensuration of solids.

Proportion may be treated algebraically, and the complications of Euclid's definitions and nomenclature avoided. The special treatment of incommensurables will not be required.

Algebra.—The meaning and the simplest properties of fractional and negative indices; graphs of the simpler algebraic functions; quadratic equations; use of graphs in solving equations, and in illustrating and solving practical problems; practical applications of gradients and of areas of graphs.

Grasp of elementary principles and readiness in practical application will be looked for, but great skill in analytical transformations will not be demanded.

Trigonometry.—Solution of plane triangles; graphs of trigonometrical functions; use of four-figure tables; formulæ for the trigonometrical ratios of the sum and difference of two angles and for the product forms of the sum and difference of sines and cosines of two angles.

Readiness in straightforward practical applications will be looked for, but no great analytical skill will be demanded. A knowledge of the general expression for all angles which have a given sine or other trigonometrical ratio will not be required.

Statics.—Graphical and analytical methods; simple machines; centre of gravity; friction.

Dynamics.—Accelerated motion in a straight line treated graphically; uniformly accelerated motion in a straight line; composition of velocities and accelerations; uniform circular motion; motion under gravity; elementary illustrations and applications of dynamical principles.

In INTERMEDIATE MATHEMATICS, in the absence of special instructions that a question is to be answered by a particular method, candidates are at liberty to choose their method from any branch of mathematics.

The examination in Intermediate Mathematics will include a laboratory test. The laboratory test will carry 400 marks.

*HIGHER MATHEMATICS.—Includes Elementary and Intermediate Mathematics, together with :—

Geometry.—Elements of solid geometrical drawing.

Algebra.—Elementary knowledge of the use of indeterminate co-efficients, especially with partial fractions.

Co-ordinate Geometry and Infinitesimal Calculus.—Equations to straight line, circle, ellipse, parabola, hyperbola, and other simple curves, in rectangular co-ordinates. The curves referred to will provide illustrations and applications of co-ordinate geometry and infinitesimal calculus, but acquaintance is expected only with the simplest theorems about the curves.

Differentiation and integration of simple standard forms and other forms depending on them; application to easy geometrical properties of plane curves, to easy mechanical and physical problems, to turning values, and to the expansion of simple algebraic and trigonometrical functions. A working knowledge (without rigorous fundamental demonstrations) of the elementary infinite series for  $(1+x)^n$ ,  $e^x$ ,  $\log(1+x)$ , and their use in approximative calculations.

In HIGHER MATHEMATICS more analytical skill will be expected than in the earlier stages. In the absence of special instructions that a question is to be answered by a particular method, candidates are at liberty to choose their method from any branch of mathematics.

The examination in Higher Mathematics will include a laboratory test. The laboratory test will carry 400 marks.

Verification of Boyle's law. Testing the standard points of thermometers. Determination of specific and latent heat by the method of mixtures. Determination of melting and boiling points. Verification of the laws of reflection and refraction. Determination of the positions of images formed by plane and spherical mirrors

* Science.—Credit will be given for lucidity, orderly development, and aptness of language; deductions will be made for incoherence, irrelevance, obscurity, slovenliness of expression, and especially for bad grammar and the incorrect use of words and phrases. Chemical symbols must be restricted to their proper function and not used as a shorthand symbol for the name of the substance.

and by convex lenses. Mapping lines of force in magnetic fields. Comparison of intensities of magnetic fields by the method of oscillations. Comparison of electric currents by the tangent galvanometer and by ammeters. Comparison of potential differences by high resistance galvanometers and by voltmeters. Comparison of resistances by substitution and by the sliding bridge.

*CHEMISTRY.—The subject will carry about 800 marks. —The questions set will be such as may be answered by candidates who have acquired their knowledge by an experimental treatment of the subject.

Classification of matter into single substances and mixtures, elements and compounds. Quantitative laws of chemical combination, outlines of the explanation of these laws by the atomic theory; Avogadro's law; general methods of determining chemical equivalents. The chemistry of water and its constituent elements; water as a solvent; natural waters. The atmosphere; combustion; oxidation, the various classes of oxides. Acids, bases and salts. Chlorine and hydrogen chloride; nitrogen, ammonia, and nitric acid; sulphur, sulphur dioxide, and sulphuric acid. Carbon; the oxides of carbon; carbonates. The hydrocarbons, marsh gas, and acetylene; flame. The metals: general methods of preparation of the metals and their commoner salts.

Questions will not be set on metallurgy or on technical processes of manufacture.

Practical Work.—The laboratory test will carry about 200 marks.—Simple exercises, which may include weighing and the measurement of volume of liquids and gases, will be set on the subjects of the preceding syllabus, for example:—

Estimation of soluble matter in a mixture; determination of a change of weight in a simple re-action; measurement of the gas evolved during solution of a metal. Observation of the behaviour of substances under the influence of heat and in simple chemical re-actions. Preparation of the gases enumerated above; preparation of salts from metals and oxides by general methods. Volumetric determination of acids and alkalis.

Importance will be attached to accurate observation and to clear description of the work done. Where necessary, sufficient instructions will be given to enable candidates to apply their general knowledge of practical chemistry to the problem set.

ELEMENTARY ENGINEERING.—Applications in mechanism of elementary mechanical principles. Machines considered as means of (a) converting motion, (b) transmitting power. Simple examples. Velocity ratio. Mechanical advantage. Efficiency. Horse-power, how measured. Dynamometers. The Indicator and Indicator diagrams. Crank-effort in relation to piston thrust. Function of flywheel.

FOR APPOINTMENT AS TELEGRAPH MESSENGER.

(Held on 5th December, 1914.)

THE candidates named hereunder were successful at the above examination, and have thereby qualified for appointment to the position of Telegraph Messenger at the places under which their names respectively appear.

The following should be noted:—

- (1) The names will remain on the Register of Qualified Candidates for eighteen months, that is, until and including 7th July, 1916, when they must, in accordance with the law, be removed therefrom.
- (2) A candidate, though successful, cannot be appointed after he attains his seventeenth birthday.
- (3) A candidate passes this examination if he secures at least half marks each in Handwriting and in Spelling; but those who have also gained half marks in Arithmetic at this examination will, if appointed, be eligible for promotion to a higher position in the General Division without further examination in these subjects.
- (4) Those who have not secured at least 100 marks in Arithmetic will be required to pass a further examination in that subject after appointment, in order to become eligible for promotion. Promotion examinations are held half-yearly.
- (5) Unless a Telegraph Messenger qualifies for promotion to a higher position before reaching the age of eighteen years, he must retire from the Service on attaining that age.
- (6) Where two or more candidates secure the same number of marks, their order of merit is determined by the number of marks obtained for (a) Arithmetic, and (b) Handwriting, and where these numbers are also equal, then by ballot.
- (7) Upon appointment, a successful candidate must produce evidence of the date of his birth, and a medical certificate, satisfying the Commissioner in whatever particulars he may determine, as to the appointee's sound bodily health and freedom from physical defects.
- (8) Upon application being made by a successful candidate appointed away from home, an allowance of £1 per month will be paid during his service as Telegraph Messenger.
- (9) Before a successful candidate who is subject to the universal training provisions of the Defence Act 1903-12 can receive appointment, he must produce evidence from the Area Officer of the Training Area in which he resides that he has fulfilled his obligations in that respect.
- (10) If a successful candidate decline to accept an appointment offered him, or fail to reply within seven days to a communication from the Commissioner or a Public Service Inspector, respecting his nomination to the Public Service, his name may be removed from the "Register of Qualified Candidates."

Commonwealth Public Service Act 1902.

NOTIFICATION OF VACANCIES.

APPLICATIONS will be received by the Public Service Commissioner from persons qualified for appointment to the positions specified below.

Applicants outside the Public Service are eligible for appointment to the Administrative and Professional Divisions, but are not eligible for appointment to Clerical or General Division vacancies, unless they were in the service of a State on 1st January, 1901, or are at present permanent officers in the service of a State, or have retired from the service of the Commonwealth or of a State.

Applicants who are officers of the Public Service of a State should state the date of their appointment to the Service, present position, and salary.

Applicants from outside the Service should state their qualifications for the office they seek. Copies only of diplomas, references, testimonials, or certificates should be forwarded. If the originals are required they will be asked for.

Full names and date and year of birth should be stated, and applications must be in applicant's handwriting.

Applications should be addressed to the "Commonwealth Public Service Inspector" of the State in which the vacancy exists. If the applicant is an officer of the Commonwealth Public Service the application should be forwarded to the Inspector through the principal officer of the Department in the State in which the officer is located, except when the vacancy is in another State, when the application should be forwarded direct by the applicant to the Inspector, a copy at the same time being forwarded to the principal officer of the Department.

Minimum and maximum salaries where shown indicate the limits of the class or grade in which the position is classified. Subject to the provisions of the Public Service Act appointments may be made at any salary within those limits. Successful appointees must comply with the life assurance provisions of the Public Service Act and Regulations.

Officers of the Public Service should note that in any case where the minimum salary of a position in the Clerical Division is not the minimum salary of a Class, and the successful applicant is not eligible for the former by reason of not having received the salary of the next lower subdivision for twelve months, he will be granted an allowance equal to the difference between the salary for which he is eligible and the minimum salary of the position until he can be advanced by annual subdivisional increments to the latter salary.

Officers who may be transferred without promotion or increase of salary, as the result of an application for an advertised vacancy, will be required to pay their own expenses of removal unless the transfer comes within the conditions prescribed in Public Service Regulation No. 54.
