AUSTRALIAN CUSTOMS SERVICE*CUSTOMS ACT 1901*PRELIMINARY FINDING INTO THE ALLEGED DUMPING AND SUBSIDISATION OF GLACE CHERRIES FROM FRANCE AND ITALY

On 30 July 1991 a notice was published under subsection 269TC(4) of the Customs Act 1901 notifying an inquiry into the alleged dumping and subsidisation of glace cherries from France and Italy. Notification was made following an application by ITC (Australia) for the publication of dumping and countervailing duty notices.

I have considered the application, taking into account submissions received and any other matters considered relevant.

NOTICE UNDER SUBSECTION 269TD(2) OF THE CUSTOMS ACT 1901

I have made a preliminary finding that there are sufficient grounds for the publication of dumping and countervailing duty notices in respect of glace cherries exported from France and Italy.

I will within seven days of the publication of this Notice, refer to the Anti-Dumping Authority the question as to whether the publication of dumping and countervailing duty notices for glace cherries exported from France and Italy sought by ITC (Australia) is so justified, as required by paragraph 269TD(2)(b) of the Customs Act 1901.

I consider it appropriate to require and take securities under section 42 of the Customs Act 1901 in respect of any dumping or countervailing duties that may become payable on entry for home consumption on or after 8 November 1991 of glace cherries from France and Italy.

NOTICE OF INQUIRY

INQUIRY INTO CLASSIFICATION OF PROGRAM MATERIAL ON TELEVISION

SUBMISSIONS ARE INVITED

The Australian Broadcasting Tribunal has started an inquiry to review its current standards covering the classification of programs and advertisements on television.

The current standards reflect the basic classification framework which has been in place since the introduction of television in Australia in 1956.

There are 14 standards under review which set out the criteria by which television stations classify television programs and advertisements as G (General), PGR (Parental Guidance Recommended), AO (Adults Only) and not suitable for television, and which set down the times of day when these programs can be broadcast. These are Television Program Standards (TPS) 3 to 11; 13 and 21; and Television Advertising Conditions (TAC) 6, 8 & 9. An explanation of the relevant standards is included in the Information Paper.

The aim of this inquiry is to find out whether the current standards are operating effectively. The inquiry particularly wants to assess whether the current classification standards adequately reflect community attitudes.

The inquiry will be conducted in two stages. The first stage of the inquiry will evaluate the current standards and the second stage will consider whether there should be any changes to the existing standards or formulation of new standards and what form the changes or new standards should take.

In relation to the first stage to review the effectiveness and appropriateness of the current standards the Tribunal will consider your comments on any or all of the following:

- 1) whether the criteria which are used to classify programs (including advertisements) as G, PGR, AO and not suitable for television, and which cover the representation of such things as violence, sex, nudity, use of offensive language and drugs, are in tune with current community attitudes;
- 2) whether the times of day at which programs (including advertisements) classified as G, PGR and AO may currently be shown on television are suitable and in line with current community expectations;

- 3) how individual television stations apply the current criteria when they classify and schedule programs (and advertisements), and is there uniformity between stations in the way that they apply these criteria.
- 4) whether the classification symbols G, PGR and AO provide enough information for viewers about the content of television programs, and whether the current method and frequency of broadcasting classification symbols is adequate;
- 5) whether current community attitudes are reflected in the specific restrictions on when television advertisements can be shown for cinema films and home videos, alcohol, betting and gambling, and personal products (such as tampons and condoms); or when clips can be shown from cinema release films being reviewed or discussed on television;
- 6) any other matter/s arising from submissions which may be relevant to the first stage of the inquiry.

The Information Paper for this inquiry sets out in detail the current standards, their history, a background to the inquiry and information on related areas (including recent recommendations from the Australian Law Reform Commission). This paper will help you in preparing your submission and is available from the Tribunal's offices.

Submissions should reach the Tribunal before 5pm on 23 December 1991. Your submission should also include a short summary of your main points and should be addressed to:

Pat Manser
Director Programs Division
Australian Broadcasting Tribunal
PO Box 1308 (76 Berry Street)
NORTH SYDNEY NSW 2059

The Tribunal will publish its evaluation on the first stage, and invite comment on any further matters which it considers relevant to the second stage of the inquiry, including any proposals for change and the results of research undertaken for the Tribunal.

Copies of the inquiry file (IP/91/46) may be examined at all Tribunal offices, the State Reference Libraries in Hobart and Darwin and the Australian National Library in Canberra between 9am and 4.30pm weekdays.
