Notice pursuant to section 16 of the National Food Authority Act 1991

The National Food Authority has before it an application received on 26 September 1991 from the City of Werribee to vary Standard A2 - Date Marking of Packed Food - to require the label of packaged frozen foods to include either the word 'Frozen' or a statement of the storage conditions.

After undertaking a preliminary assessment, the Authority has now completed a full assessment of the application, has prepared a draft variation to Standard A1 - Labelling and Advertising and will now conduct an inquiry to consider this draft.

Any correspondence or submissions on this matter should quote Application No. 88.

To assist in this process the Authority invites written submissions on matters relevant to the purposes of the inquiry.

Notice pursuant to section 16 of the
National Food Authority Act 1991

The National Food Authority has before it an application dated 16 October 1991 from the New South Wales Department of Health to amend the Food Standards Code to vary Standard B1 - Cereals, Legumes, Flours, Meals and Breads - to require that flour used for making bread is enriched with thiamin (Vitamin B1).

After undertaking a preliminary assessment, the Authority has now completed a full assessment of the application and has prepared a draft variation to Standard B1 - Cereals, Legumes, Flours, Meals and Breads. The Authority considers that the proposed variation will correct a minor anomaly in the Food Standards Code whereby bread could be made from flour which has not been thiamin enriched. This anomaly is inconsistent with National Health and Medical Research Council recommendations. The Authority will hold an inquiry to consider this draft.

To assist in this process, the Authority invites written submissions on matters relevant to the draft variation.

Any submissions received will be placed on the public register of the Authority unless a claim of commercial confidentiality (either in respect of all or part of the submission) is made and justified.

Notice pursuant to section 17 of the National Food Authority Act 1991

The National Food Authority has before it an application received on 4 November 1991 from the New South Wales Department of Health to amend the Food Standards Code to vary Standard B2 - Baking Compounds and Baking Powder - so as to have baking compounds and baking powders classified as food additives rather than as foods.

The application identified significant shortcomings in the present Standard B2, principally that baking compounds and baking powders are not adequately defined as to their identity or standards of purity and, that as a result of their current standardisation as commodities along with other foods, they are not required to be declared in detail on ingredient labels.

The application proposed the creation of a new additive standard for these agents as a specific solution to these shortcomings.

After seeking public comment on this application, the Authority has now completed a full assessment and has decided to reject the application. The reasons for this decision are as follows:

- . the identified shortcomings could be overcome in ways less problematic than the creation of a new additive standard;
- . current standardisation of baking compounds and baking powders as foods does not pose any risk to public health and safety;
- . any improvement in the information to consumers as a result of the application was not strongly argued, is considered marginal and is outweighed by consequential difficulties associated with standardisation as additives; and
- . the classification of baking compounds and baking powders as additives, or indeed as processing aids or as premixes, cannot be made with any certainty in the absence of agreed definitions of such.

NATIONAL FOOD AUTHORITYFOOD STANDARDS*Notice pursuant to section 17 of the National Food Authority Act 1991

The National Food Authority has before it an application dated 13 May 1990 from Lactos Pty Ltd of Burnie, Tasmania, to amend the Food Standards Code to vary H8 - Yoghurt and Yoghurt Products - to accommodate a new type of 'frozen yoghurt' which has a pH between 5.6 and 6.1.

The application was submitted prior to the commencement of the National Food Authority Act and continues in force by virtue of Section 71 of the Act.

The applicant stated that the new type of 'frozen yoghurt' was a non-coagulated milk product, which was obtained by partial lactic acid fermentation through the action of suitable bacteria.

After seeking public comment on this application the Authority has now completed a full assessment, and has decided to reject the application. The reasons for this decision are as follows:

- Standard H8 exists because there is a need to regulate and to define yoghurt and yoghurt products.
- The frozen soft serve product which is the subject of this application does not comply with either the Australian or international definition of yoghurt, which includes the technical criteria of coagulation (or inherently, a pH close to 4.5). This is considered to be critical to the identity of yoghurt.
- "Frozen yoghurt" does not have a definition separate from yoghurt in New Zealand or other international regulations.
- The justification supplied by the applicant for amending Standard H8 was considered insufficient and inappropriate. The claim that there is a consumer trend towards a milder tasting yoghurt cannot be used to change the basic criteria used to define yoghurt.
- To accept the application to amend Standard H8 for a product which does not comply with the basic precepts of the standard would be in contravention of the objectives of the Authority, as listed in s.10 of the National Food Authority Act;
 - the provision of adequate information to enable consumers to make informed choices and prevent fraud and deception;

- . promotion of fair trading in food;
 - . promotion of consistency between domestic and international standards.
- The Authority notes that the frozen product which is the subject of this application does not carry a greater microbiological risk than other frozen soft serve products, and is currently regulated in Standard S1 - Miscellaneous Foods.

National Food AuthorityFood Standards*Notice pursuant to section 17 of the National Food Authority Act

The National Food Authority has before it an application, dated 1 May 1991, from the Victorian Dairy Industry Authority to amend the Food Standards Code to vary Standards H1 - Milk and Liquid Milk Products, H2 - Cream and Cream Products and H4 - Dried Milk, Dried Skim Milk and Malted Milk Powder to include a nil tolerance microbiological requirement for Listeria monocytogenes (Lm).

The application was submitted prior to the commencement of the National Food Authority Act and continues in force by virtue of section 71 of the Act.

Having regard to what has been done by the food committees of the National Health and Medical Research Council in relation to consideration of the application, the Authority has decided not to omit any of the matters required under Part 3 of the Act.

After seeking public comment on this application, the Authority has now completed a full assessment and has decided to reject the application. The reasons for this decision are as follows:

- the foods regulated by these standards have not been shown to represent a public health hazard for Lm in Australia

Submissions on the application provided evidence that these products are not high risk foods for Lm. The Queensland Health Department provided the results of a survey of foods and the NSW Dairy Corporation provided isolation statistics that indicated that <1% of 1400 products sampled proved positive for Lm. This is consistent with figures provided by the applicant. Lm has never been isolated from dried milk products. None of the products regulated by standards H1, H2 and H4 have been associated with a listeriosis outbreak in Australia.

- Lm is inactivated by properly controlled standard pasteurisation processes

All of the products in these standards undergo pasteurisation or similar heat treatments and pasteurisation has been shown to be listericidal.

- the phosphatase and coliform requirements already imposed on these products give a rapid indication of the efficacy of pasteurisation and the possibility of post processing contamination

The standard methods used for the detection of Lm take 3-6 days to finalise, whereas the phosphatase test can indicate pasteurisation failures in half an hour to two hours and the coliform test can indicate post processing contamination in 24 hours. Since pasteurisation failures and post processing contamination can lead to Lm contamination, these requirements, which are already in the Food Standards Code, give a more rapid indication of potential problems. This is particularly important for products such as pasteurised milk and cream with a short shelflife.

- there is no similar requirement in either the New Zealand regulations or Codex standards

The inclusion of a Lm requirement for the products in standards H1, H2 and H4 would not be consistent with international standards.

- the requirement would impose end product testing which would add to production costs without reasonable justification.

Since these products are not deemed to be high risk products for Lm, there seems little justification for imposing added production costs. In the case of dried milk there is no documented evidence of Lm being isolated from the product and no association of the product with listeriosis outbreaks.

- the Dairy Industry is adhering to an industry code of practice

Both the applicant and several State Health Authorities state that the dairy industry uses the Chief Dairy Officers Committee 'Australian Manual for Control of Listeria in the Dairy Industry' and in the light of the Queensland survey and NSW Dairy Corporation figures, this self regulation appears to be controlling any potential problems.

NATIONAL FOOD AUTHORITY

Food Standards

Notice pursuant to section 17 of the National Food Authority Act

The National Food Authority received an application on 1 November 1991 from the Australian Egg Marketing Council and the Australian Council of Egg Producers to amend the Food Standards Code to vary standard E1 - Eggs, Liquid Eggs and Liquid Egg Products - to include minimum quality standards for shell eggs.

After seeking public comment on this application, the Authority has now completed a full assessment and has decided to reject the application. The reasons for this decision are as follows:

- . The application relates largely to the inclusion of quality standards for shell eggs in the Food Standards Code.

Clause 9 of the National Food Authority Act details the matters on which the Authority can develop or vary standards. Quality of food is not listed in this clause and therefore the Authority does not have the power to formulate food standards which only relate to quality issues (such as misshapen eggs) unless there is a broader impact. There is also provision under State/Territory Food Acts to prohibit the sale of food which is not of the nature, the substance or the quality demanded by the purchaser.

- . The application raises issues which are covered adequately by existing legislation.

The application requests a prohibition on the sale of eggs showing evidence of rot or mould and other defects of public health significance. This issue is covered by provisions in the State/Territory Food Acts prohibiting the sale of food which is damaged, deteriorated, perished, adulterated or otherwise unfit for human consumption.

The application requests a prohibition on the re-use of soiled packaging materials. This is covered by provisions in State/Territory Food Hygiene regulations.

Comments received on the application requested that a definition for 'free range' and 'organically grown' eggs be included in standard E1. These claims are covered by provisions in the Trade Practices Act and State/Territory Food and Fair Trading Acts. In particular, the State/Territory Food Acts make it an offence to sell a food which includes a label with statements that are false, misleading in any particular or deceptive.

- . Amendment No 11 (August 1991) to the Food Standards Code prohibited the sale of cracked eggs unless they are to be further heat treated.

The application identified a potential public health risk from the sale of cracked eggs but this has been resolved by amendment no 11.

- . A requirement for all eggs to be stamped to facilitate traceback unfairly singles out a food product without adequate justification.

The application requested a requirement that all shell eggs should be stamped to facilitate traceback. The Authority agreed that this requirement would unfairly single out shell eggs and incur added production costs which are not justified given that a NSW Department of Health survey had shown that whole intact eggs did not present a high risk to public health and safety. Evidence also showed that the NSW Health Department had successfully concluded a traceback on a case involving egg carton substitution under existing legislation without undue difficulty.

- . The requirement to include a use-by date on shell eggs will not necessarily provide consumers with adequate information to make an informed choice.

The application requested a requirement that shell eggs include a use-by date of four weeks from the date of despatch from the grading/packing station. Food standards do not dictate the minimum durable life of a product and the use-by date does not take into account adverse handling and storage of the egg which is extremely relevant to the freshness of the egg.

Clause (3) of standard A2 - Date Marking of Packed Food provides manufacturers with the option of marking short shelf life foods with either the date of packing, use-by date or best before date. The Authority believes that in the case of shell eggs, the date of packing provides the consumer with the most relevant information and will seek advice on the need for future action from relevant industry bodies.

Notice pursuant to section 27 of the
National Food Authority Act 1991

The National Food Authority has completed an inquiry into the proposal to increase the Maximum Permitted Concentrations (MPC's) of copper and selenium in nuts, and has recommended that the National Food Standards Council adopt draft variations to:

Standard A12 - Metals and Contaminants in Food

The recommendations, if approved by the Council, will provide a separate category for 'brazil nuts', which will permit brazil nuts to contain a maximum selenium concentration of 10 mg/kg; and the category for 'nuts' to permit all nuts to contain a maximum copper concentration of 50 mg/kg.

3. FORMAL OPINION

Aspirin

The Committee recommended that a pregnancy warning statement for aspirin products be developed in association with the Therapeutic Goods Administration.

Nicotine

The Committee recommended that jurisdictions make the necessary arrangements to have the appropriate warning placed on the label where the product was classified as Schedule 3.

Bacillus Calmette

The Committee considered that this drug was covered by the existing Schedule 4 vaccine entry.

Pancrelipase

The Committee was of the opinion that because the use of this class of products was limited to a small select group of patients under continuous medical attention, the existing exemption from scheduling status remained appropriate. This position could be reviewed if a significant public health impact was identified because of its exempt status.

Beta-agonist Inhalers

Having thoroughly reviewed the available information on the risks and benefits, the Committee was not disposed to recommend a precipitate change the current scheduling of beta-agonist inhalers.

From the currently available information the Committee was unable to identify a causal association between the Schedule 3 availability of beta-agonists and asthma death that could be related to toxicity.

The results of epidemiological studies currently available to the Committee did not show that the Schedule 3 availability of beta-agonists is causally associated with increased asthma mortality in Australia.

The Committee believed that further work was needed to establish whether various hypotheses relating to a possible association between the use of beta-agonist inhalers and increased asthma mortality had validity. The Committee recognised that the current Schedule 3 availability of some beta-agonists benefits many asthmatics.

The Committee believed it appropriate to introduce a further label statement warning against repeatedly increasing the recommended dose without medical advice and to seek medical advice if the recommended dose became less effective.

The Committee recommended that the National Asthma Campaign be asked to undertake research into the risks and benefits of the availability and use of beta-agonists inhalers in Australia.

The Committee resolved to keep this matter under continuing review.

Exemption from SUSDP - Small poison bottles (10 ml or less)

The Committee considered it was not appropriate to change the SUSDP and that such exemptions should be done under State legislation.

Dilute Preparations

The method of specifying dilute concentrations is to be mg/kg or mg/L or using metric units lower than milligrams where appropriate (e.g. micrograms, nanograms etc.).

The Committee is of the opinion that when drugs and poisons which appear in the SUSDP from Schedule 1 to 7 are present in preparations which contain no measurable amount of drug or poison those preparations are are not scheduled.

OF GERMANY, THAILAND, INDIA, FRANCE AND INDONESIA

The Australian Customs Service (Customs) has completed its inquiry into the alleged dumping of Sorbitol 70 Per Cent Solution (Sorbitol) from the Federal Republic of Germany (Germany), Thailand, India, France and Indonesia. The inquiry commenced on 11 March 1992 following an application by ICI Australia Operations Pty Ltd.

Securities under section 42 of the Customs Act 1901 will be imposed in respect of any dumping duty that may become payable on the goods from these countries that are entered for home consumption on or after 20 June 1992.

Customs will now refer the matter to the Anti-Dumping Authority who must hold an inquiry and report to the Minister as to whether dumping duties should be imposed.

The legal notification of the preliminary finding is set out below.

NOTICE UNDER SUBSECTION 269TD(2) OF THE CUSTOMS ACT 1901

I have considered the application, taking into account submissions received and any other matters considered relevant, and hereby declare that there are sufficient grounds for the publication of:

Transport and Communications

NOTICE OF COMMENCEMENT OF INQUIRY INTO THE VARIATION OR REVOCATION OF CONDITIONS ON LICENCE -
REMOTE COMMERCIAL TELEVISION SERVICES
QQQ NORTH EASTERN ZONE, IMP CENTRAL ZONE AND
WAW WESTERN ZONE

PUBLIC SUBMISSIONS INVITED

The Australian Broadcasting Tribunal has commenced an inquiry, pursuant to s17C of the Broadcasting Act 1942 (the Act), into whether the conditions currently imposed by the Tribunal on the licences for remote television services IMP, QQQ and WAW should remain unchanged or be varied or revoked. These licence conditions were imposed by the Tribunal at the time of granting the licence. The conditions state:

IMP CENTRAL ZONE

The licensee shall provide access for the following number of hours of educational programs based on or consistent with established curricula (including primary, secondary, tertiary and continuing education) to meet the specific educational needs and interests of the population within the service area:

- (a) during the first and second year of operation - a minimum of 80 hours per year;
- (b) during the third and fourth year of operation - a minimum of 280 hours per year;
- (c) during the fifth year of operation - a minimum of 560 hours per year.

The licensee shall take all reasonable steps to ensure that the number of hours referred to above are transmitted using program material from independent, educational and its own resources.

QQQ NORTH-EASTERN ZONE

Identical to the condition on the IMP licence, except that, as well as educational programs, the licensee is to provide, for the same number of hours each year, access for "Aboriginal programs to meet the specific needs of the Aboriginal population within the service area."

WAW WESTERN ZONE

Identical to the condition on the IMP licence.

ISSUES FOR CONSIDERATION

Section 85 of the Act gives the Tribunal the power to vary or revoke any of the conditions of a current licence. The Tribunal will consider the following matters in deciding whether to vary or revoke any or all of the conditions on licence of each of the relevant television services:

- (a) the availability of suitable program material to allow each licensee to telecast the required levels of educational and / or Aboriginal programming specified in the conditions;

TELECOMMUNICATIONS ACT 1991

NOTICE OF DECLARATION UNDER SECTION 267 (1)

Pursuant to section 267 (1) of the Telecommunications Act 1991 ("the Act"), AUSTEL declares that sections 253, 254, 255 and 257 of the Act, do not apply in relation to satellite earth stations having the exclusive function of the reception on earth of signals from one or more AUSSAT A series satellites.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENTTELECOMMUNICATIONS ACT 1991
DECLARATION UNDER SECTION 267
RECEIVE-ONLY PRIVATE SATELLITE EARTH STATIONS
CONNECTED TO AUSSAT "A" SERIES SATELLITES

Issued by AUSTEL

Relevant Statutory Provisions

The Telecommunications Act 1991 provides for the regulation of "customer equipment" which is defined by the Act (section 5) to mean "... equipment that is, or is intended to be, connected to a telecommunications network operated by a carrier, other than equipment that is used, or intended for use, within the boundaries of such a network."

Part 12 of the Act enables AUSTEL to, amongst other things -

- determine technical standards relating to customer equipment (Division 3)
- issue permits for the connection to a telecommunications network of customer equipment or a type of customer equipment (Division 6).

AUSTEL may only determine a technical standard where it believes it to be necessary or desirable to do so in order to -

- protect the integrity of a telecommunications network or the safety of persons working on, or using services supplied by means of, a telecommunications network; or
- ensure the interoperability of customer equipment, or customer cabling, with a telecommunications network to which it is connected; or
- ensure that customer equipment, or customer cabling, connected to a telecommunications network complies with recognised international standards concerning the interfacing of customer equipment or customer cabling to a telecommunications network; or
- maintain or improve the end-to-end quality of telecommunications services for in relation to the supply of which customer equipment or customer cabling is used.

(Section 246(2))

Pursuant to section 53 of the Act, AUSTEL has established a Standards Advisory Committee to assist it in determining technical standards. The Committee consists of representatives of the carriers (AOTC and Optus), consumer and user organisation, unions, relevant industry associations, Standards Australia and the Department of Transport and Communications.

AUSTEL must not issue a permit unless it is satisfied that, amongst other things, connection of the customer equipment concerned, in accordance with the conditions included in the permit, would comply with technical standards determined by AUSTEL (section 258(3)(b)).

AUSTEL may, by written notice published in the Gazette, declare that Division 6 of Part 12 of the Act, or specific provisions of it, do not apply in relation to specified classes of customer equipment (section 267(1)).

Such a notice may specify a class of equipment -

- by reference to the technical characteristics of the equipment; or
- by reference to the functions of the equipment.

(Section 267(2))

Subject to a written direction by the Minister under section 250 about how AUSTEL is to perform its function or exercise its powers relating to the issuing, varying or cancelling of permits, AUSTEL may make a declaration under section 267 on its own initiative or at the request of any person (section 267(4)).

An instrument under section 267(1) is a disallowable instrument for the purposes of section 46 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

Private Satellite Earth Stations

A Private Satellite Earth Station is a facility owned and operated by a person, other than a carrier, which is used or intended for use in accessing one or more satellites through the radio frequency interface.

Private Satellite Earth Stations are used by the media for studio and outside broadcast van communications, government departments and private networks.

A Private Satellite Earth Station comes within the definition of customer equipment in the Act.

AUSTEL has determined a technical standard (TS020-1992) specifying the requirements for the radio frequency interface for Private Satellite Earth Stations equipment accessing the AUSSAT satellite network.

The technical standard specifies the performance requirements and testing procedures for radio frequency interfacing and non-interference interworking of Private Satellite Earth Stations when transmitting to and receiving from the AUSSAT satellite system. Compliance with the transmitting requirements is mandatory. Compliance with the receiving requirements is voluntary.

Receive only Private Satellite Earth Stations

Receive only Private Satellite Earth Stations are used, for example, by the broadcasting industry for services including the Homestead and Community Broadcast Satellite Service and for the distribution of TV services.

As receive only Private Satellite Earth Stations do not transmit to a satellite, they do not threaten the safety or interoperability of a carrier's telecommunications network. Other performance requirements are covered by -

- State legislation in respect of the safety of persons working on, or using the services connected to, Private Satellite Earth Stations.
- Regulatory arrangements governing such interference to be administered by the Department of Transport and Communications in respect of the potential of a Private Satellite Earth Station to cause electromagnetic interference in other customer equipment.

The Declaration

The declaration has the effect of exempting receive only Private Satellite Earth Stations from the following provisions of the Telecommunications Act 1991 -

- section 253 which prohibits the connection of customer equipment for which there is no permit. That is, a person connecting a receive only Private Satellite Earth Station to a telecommunications network does not have to obtain a permit for the equipment from AUSTEL in respect to the satellite connection.
- section 254 which empowers AUSTEL to give a notice requiring disconnection of customer equipment for which there is no permit
- section 255 relating to the sale of customer equipment for which there is no permit
- section 257 relating to applications for permits.

The declaration was made by AUSTEL after being raised at a meeting of AUSTEL's Standards Advisory Committee.

Notice of the declaration was published in the Gazette of 24 June 1992.

EXTENSIONS OF TIME TO LODGE RETURNS

Nothing in this notice prevents me or an authorised officer of the Australian Taxation Office from granting an extension for lodgment of any return/s after the date specified in this notice or from wanting the lodgment of return/s before that date.

PENALTIES FOR NON-COMPLIANCE

Any person who does not comply with the requirement of this notice commits an offence and is liable, on conviction, to a penalty not exceeding $2,000 if it is the first offence. In this notice, "person" includes a company, a partnership, a trust estate, an association, a fund, a body or an institution.

SEPARATE NOTICE TO COMPANIES

Notwithstanding this notice, a company must, when called upon by direct notice, lodge statements containing the abovementioned information in an alternative form, or at an alternative time or place as directed by that notice.

PENALTIES FOR NON-COMPLIANCE

Any person who does not comply with a requirement of this notice commits an offence and is liable, on conviction, to a penalty not exceeding $2,000 if it is the first offence.
