CALL FOR PUBLIC COMMENT

Draft Recovery Plan for Marine Turtles

It is a requirement of the Endangered Species Protection Act 1992, to prepare recovery plans for all endangered and vulnerable species that occur in Commonwealth areas. The recovery plan must provide for the research and management actions necessary to stop the decline of the species so that its chances of long term survival in nature are maximised. Once prepared all recovery plans require release for public comment.

The Biodiversity Group of Environment Australia has released for public comment the Draft Recovery Plan for Marine Turtles which includes the endangered Loggerhead turtle and the vulnerable Green, Hawksbill, Olive Ridley and Leatherback turtles. This plan has been prepared in consultation with government agencies, non-government organisations, industry, scientists and community representatives. Comments on the Recovery Plan for Marine Turtles are sought from interested individuals and groups.

The release of this draft plan marks the beginning of a three month public comment period that will close on Monday 28 December 1998. At the end of this period the plan will be revised, taking into consideration any comments received. A report on the comments and their consideration will also be prepared and will be sent with the revised plan to the Minister for approval.

An electronic copy of the draft recovery plan may be viewed on the Internet at:

<http://www.biodiversity.environment.gov.au/plants/recovery/turtle>

A hard copy of the recovery plan may be obtained from the Public Relations and Information Section, Biodiversity Group, Environment Australia, GPO Box 636, CANBERRA ACT 2601 or by telephoning (02) 6250 0713. Any additional information may be obtained by telephoning (02) 6250 0394 or facsimile (02) 6250 0314.

(ii) there was no allocation in force for the APA on 31 January before the day on which the APA lodged the application; and

- (b) the APA does not own or control any accredited pathology laboratory that another APA has previously owned or controlled; and
- (c) the APA has not acquired by agreement any business of another APA since becoming an APA; and
- (d) the APA does not conduct any operations connected in any way with the former operations of another APA or former APA.

(2) For this Determination, an APA is not a new entrant if:

(a) the APA:

(i) was previously allocated units of entitlement in accordance with this section; or

(ii) was previously allocated units of entitlement, before this Determination commenced, in accordance with a provision of similar effect to this section; and

(b) the APA disposed of the business to which the units related in the period in which the units were intended to apply to the APA.

(3) If an APA is a new entrant for the first allocation period, and would also be a new entrant for the next year ("the second allocation period"), apart from the application of this subsection, the Minister must perform his or her duties under section 23DNB of the Act for the second allocation period on the basis that:

(a) the APA:

(i) may apply to be allocated units of entitlement as a new entrant for the second allocation period; and

(ii) will be a new entrant for the second allocation period if it lodges that application; and

(iii) will not be entitled to be allocated units of entitlement in accordance with section 5 or 6 for the second allocation period after lodging that application; or

(b) the APA:

(i) may apply to be allocated units of entitlement in accordance with section 5 or 6 for the second allocation period; and

(ii) will cease to be a new entrant for the second allocation period on lodging that application.

(4) The Minister must:

- (a) specify 2 as the number of units of entitlement to be allocated to a new entrant; and
- (b) determine that the 2 units of entitlement apply to the new entrant for the relevant period, year or part of the year.

Units of entitlement: application by end of 31 October

5. (1) This section applies if:
- (a) an APA lodges an application by the end of 31 October before the year to which the application relates; and
  - (b) subject to paragraph 4 (3) (b), the APA is not a new entrant for that year.

(2) The Minister must work out the number of units of entitlement to be allocated to the APA using the formula:

where:

FTE relates to the number of full time equivalent recognised pathologists, worked out using item 3 of the Schedule;

N is obtained by:

- (a) finding the global entitlement for the year, worked out at the end of 31 October before the start of that year; and
- (b) reducing it by 1 for each APA whose application for the allocation of units of entitlement for that year is in force at the end of that 31 October;

PEI relates to the number of Group P10 PEI items, worked out using item 2 of the Schedule.

(3) If, apart from the application of this subsection, the number of units of entitlement would include a part of a whole number, the number of units of entitlement is:

- (a) if the part of the number is less than 0.5-the number of units reduced to the nearest whole number; or
- (b) if the part of the number is 0.5 or greater-the number of units increased to the nearest whole number.

(4) If, apart from the application of this subsection, the number of units of entitlement to be allocated to an APA under this section for the year starting 1 February 1999 would be less than the number of units of entitlement allocated to the APA as at 31 October 1998 (referred to in this subsection as the '1998 allocation'), the Minister must specify that the number of units of entitlement to be allocated to the APA for the year starting 1 February 1999 is equal to the 1998 allocation.

Units of entitlement: application after 31 October

6. (1) Subsections (2) and (3) apply if:
- (a) an APA lodges an application later than 31 October before the year to which the application relates; and
  - (b) subject to paragraph 4 (3) (b), the APA is not a new entrant for that year.

(2) If the APA would have been allocated fewer than 2 units of entitlement by lodging the application by the end of 31 October, the Minister must:

- (a) specify the lesser number as the number of units of entitlement to be allocated to the APA; and

- (b) determine that the lesser number of units of entitlement applies to the APA for the relevant year.
- (3) If the APA would have been allocated at least 2 units of entitlement by lodging the application by the end of 31 October, the Minister must:
  - (a) specify 2 as the number of units of entitlement to be allocated to the APA; and
  - (b) determine that the 2 units of entitlement apply to the APA for the relevant year.

Variation of allocation: acquisition and disposal of APA business

7. (1) If an APA ("the acquiring APA") acquires business, by agreement, from 1 or more other APAs, the acquiring APA may request the Minister, in writing, to vary the acquiring APA's allocation of units from a specified date, not earlier than 2 weeks after the request is given to the Minister.

- (2) The request must state:
  - (a) the name of each APA from which the acquiring APA acquired business; and
  - (b) the nature and extent of the business acquired; and
  - (c) if the acquiring APA has disposed of business in connection with the acquisition:
    - (i) the name of each APA to which the acquiring APA has disposed of the business; and
    - (ii) the nature and extent of the business disposed of.

(3) If the date of variation in the request is 1 February, the Minister may include in an allocation for the acquiring APA, for the year starting on the 1 February, a number of units that takes account, as far as practicable, of the business acquired by the APA and the business (if any) disposed of by the APA.

- (4) If the date of variation in the request is not 1 February, the Minister may:
  - (a) revoke the current allocation; and
  - (b) make a new allocation, for the remainder of the period to which the revoked allocation related, to take account, as far as practicable, of the business acquired by the APA and the business (if any) disposed of by the APA.

(5) If the Minister makes an allocation mentioned in subsection (3) or paragraph (4) (b), the Minister must, as far as practicable, alter correspondingly the allocation of units of entitlement to every APA:

- (a) from which the acquiring APA acquired business; or
- (b) to which the acquiring APA disposed of business;

so that the total number of units of entitlement available to those APAs does not increase.

(6) The Minister must not vary an allocation of units of entitlement for a year or a part of a year otherwise than in accordance with this section.

Number of LCCs allowed by unit of entitlement

8. (1) Column 2 of an item in Table 1 sets out the number of LCCs that an APA may operate:

- (a) in a statistical local area referred to in column 1 of the table; and
- (b) for each unit of entitlement allocated to the APA under paragraph 23DNB (1)(b) or (2)(b) of the Act.

TABLE 1

Capital City	1
Other Major Urban	1
Rural Major	1

(2) For subsection (1), a statistical local area (also known as an "SLA") is an area described, using a title mentioned in column 1 of Table 1, in the document entitled "Rural/Remote Areas Classification" published by the Department of Human Services and Health in January 1994.

[NOTE: The Rural/Remote Areas Classification document published by the Department of Human Services and Health in January 1994 should not be confused with a similar document published jointly by the Department of Human Services and Health and the Department of Primary Industries and Energy in November 1994.]

SCHEDULE*Subsection 5 (2)*CALCULATION OF FACTORS PEI AND FTE FOR A YEAR
COMMENCING ON 1 FEBRUARY 1999 OR A LATER 1 FEBRUARY*1. Definitions*1.1 In this Schedule:*"calculation period" means:

- (a) the period of 4 weeks starting on the first Monday of the last financial year before the year to which an application relates; and
- (b) the 12 subsequent periods of 4 complete weeks;

"reference year" means the period of 52 weeks containing all of the calculation periods.*2. Calculation of factor PEI

2.1 Subject to item 2.2, factor PEI is worked out for an APA by the Health Insurance Commission using Table 2.

- |               |   |
|---------------|---|
| Step 1 | Add up the number of Group P 10 PEI items rendered in the reference year by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) the APA; or</li> <li>(b) a person that was an APA and whose business was acquired by the APA during or after the reference year;</li> </ul> based on date of service data recorded by the Health Insurance Commission, and compiled no earlier than 1 November following the reference year, for working out factor PEI.  |
| Step 2 | Divide the number worked out in step 1 by the total number of Group P10 PEI items rendered in the reference year by all persons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) that are APAs; and</li> <li>(b) whose applications for the allocation of units of entitlement for the year are in force at the end of 31 October before the year;</li> </ul> based on date of service data recorded by the Health Insurance Commission, and compiled no earlier than 1 November following the reference year, for working out factor PEI. |
| Step 3 | If necessary, round the result to 5 decimal places.  |

2.2 If the data available to calculate the number of Group P10 PEI items rendered in the reference year for step 1 in Table 2 does not relate to the whole of the reference year, factor PEI is to be worked out by the Health Insurance Commission using Table 3.

| Step 1 | Add up the number of Group P10 PEI items rendered, in the part of the reference year for which data is available, by:(a) the APA; or(b) a person that was an APA and whose business was acquired by the APA during or after the reference year;based on date of service data recorded by the Health Insurance Commission, and compiled no earlier than 1 November following the reference year, for working out factor PEI.  |
| Step 2 | Divide the result by the number of days in the reference year for which data is available and multiply that result by 364.   |
| Step 3 | Divide the number worked out in step 2 by the total number of Group P10 PEI items rendered in the reference year by all persons:(a) that are APA's; and(b) whose applications for the allocation of units of entitlement for the year are in force at the end of 31 October before the year;based on date of service data recorded by the Health Insurance Commission, and compiled no earlier than 1 November following the reference year, for working out factor PEI. |
| Step 4 | If necessary, round the result to 5 decimal places.  |

SCHEDULE - continued*3. Calculation of factor FTE

[NOTE: The calculation of factor FTE is based on the following assumptions:

- (a) a recognised pathologist who is employed by an APA for an average of fewer than 8 hours per week in a reference year is not to be included in the calculation;
- (b) a recognised pathologist who is employed by an APA for an average minimum of 40 hours per week in a reference year is a full time equivalent recognised pathologist.]

- 3.1 Subject to item 3.2, factor FTE is worked out for an APA by the Health Insurance Commission using Table 4.

- |        |   |
|--------|---|
| Step 1 | Add up the number of full time equivalent recognised pathologists who were employed in the reference year by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>(a) the APA; or</li><li>(b) a person that was an APA and whose business was acquired by the APA during or after the reference year.</li></ul>   |
| Step 2 | Divide the number worked out in step 1 by the total number of full time equivalent recognised pathologists who were employed in the reference year by any person: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>(a) that was an APA; and</li><li>(b) whose application for the allocation of units of entitlement for the reference year was in force at the end of 31 October before the reference year.</li></ul> |
| Step 3 | If necessary, round the result to 5 decimal places.   |

3.2 If the data available, for an APA, to calculate the number of full time equivalent recognised pathologists employed in a reference year for the purposes of step 1 of Table 4 does not relate to the whole of the reference year, factor FTE is to be calculated by the Health Insurance Commission using Table 5.

TABLE 5

Step 1	Add up the number of full time equivalent recognised pathologists who were employed, in the period of the reference year for which data is available, by: (a) the APA; or (b) a person that was an APA and whose business was acquired by the APA during or after the reference year.
Step 2	Divide the result by the number of days in the reference year for which data is available and multiply that result by 364.
Step 3	Divide the number worked out in step 2 by the total number of full time equivalent recognised pathologists who were employed in the reference year by any person: (a) that was an APA; and (b) whose application for the allocation of units of entitlement for the reference year was in force at the end of 31 October before the reference year.
Step 4	If necessary, round the result to 5 decimal places.

3.3 The extent to which a recognised pathologist employed by an APA ("APA 1") in the reference year was a full time equivalent recognised pathologist in the reference year is to be worked out by the Health Insurance Commission as follows:

- (a) for each calculation period for which data is available, find a number of hours using Table 6:

TABLE 6

Calculation period	What to Find
Each calculation period in which the recognised pathologist was employed by APA 1 only.	The lesser of (a) the total number of hours for which the recognised pathologist worked for APA 1; and (b) 160 hours.
Each calculation period in which the recognised pathologist was employed by APA 1, and by at least 1 other APA, for a total number of hours that does not exceed 160.	The number of hours worked for each APA
Each calculation period in which the recognised pathologist was employed by APA 1, and by at least 1 other APA, for a total number of hours that exceeds 160.	The number of hours worked out by: (a) apportioning the total number of hours, on a proportionate basis, into periods worked for each APA; and (b) reducing the apportioned numbers, on a proportionate basis, until the total number of apportioned hours, as reduced, does not exceed 160; and (c) identifying the apportioned period, as reduced, for which the recognised pathologist worked for APA 1.

- (b) add up all of the hours worked out under paragraph (a) for the number of calculation periods for which data is available;
- (c) if the total number of hours added up under paragraph (b) is the equivalent of fewer than 8 hours per week in the reference year, treat the number as zero;
- (d) if the total number of hours added up under paragraph (b) is the equivalent of at least 8 hours per week in the reference year, divide the number by 2,080;
- (e) if necessary, round the result to 5 decimal places.

3.4 If item 3.3 produces a number less than 1, the recognised pathologist is to be counted as that proportion of a full time equivalent recognised pathologist for the reference year.

FOLATE HEALTH CLAIMS (Proposal P170) Notice is hereby given that the Authority proposes to advertise on 23 September 1998 a shortened public comment period for products recommended to be allowed to carry a folate health claim.

MATTERS AT FULL ASSESSMENT The Authority has made preliminary assessments, accepted the following applications and will now make full assessments of them:

Maximum Residue Limits (A356 and A361) Two applications received on 9 January 1998 and 24 July 1998 from the National Registration Authority to amend Maximum Residue Limits (MRLs) for a number of agricultural chemicals. In accordance with the transitional arrangements for food standards between Australia and New Zealand, individual country MRLs for agricultural and veterinary chemicals continue to apply for these standards and this application proposes changes for MRLs for food sold in Australia, whether imported or domestically produced.

MATTERS AT INQUIRY The Authority will conduct inquiries into the draft standards or variations to standards prepared at full assessment of the following:

Methylene Chloride for Decaffeination of Tea (A358) An application received on 6 April 1998 from Tetley Australia Pty Ltd to extend the use of methylene chloride (a processing aid) for the decaffeination of tea.

Fish and Fish Products (P183) A proposal to revise current Australian and New Zealand regulations in order to develop a joint Australia New Zealand food standard for fish and fish products.

With respect to this application and proposal the Authority is satisfied that they both raise issues of minor significance and complexity and that to omit to invite public submissions prior to making a full assessment will not have a significant adverse effect on the interests of any person or body. The Authority has therefore decided to omit to invite public submissions prior to making full assessments.

You are invited to present written submissions to the Authority on the above matters, including the potential regulatory impact on consumers, industry and government, by 28 October 1998. The information papers on these matters provide further information, including advice on the Authority's policy regarding submissions.

APPLICATION WITHDRAWN The following application has been withdrawn at full assessment by the applicant:

Natamycin for the Surface Treatment of Shredded and Grated Cheese (A261) An application received from Gist-brocades (formerly Mauri Laboratories) on 20 June 1995 to permit the use of natamycin for the surface treatment of shredded and grated cheese to prevent unwanted growth of yeast and moulds. The application has been withdrawn by the applicant in order to allow an appropriate length of time to generate the additional information requested by the Authority. It is anticipated that the application will be re-submitted when the relevant information is available.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

DEPARTMENT OF PRIMARY INDUSTRIES AND ENERGY

EXPORT OF CATTLE DURING NORTHERN HEMISPHERE SUMMERS

ORDER No LC2/98

1. Statutory basis

All exporters of red meat and live-stock are required to be licensed by the Department of Primary Industries and Energy (DPIE) under the provisions of the Australian Meat and Live-stock Industry Act 1997 (the Act) after meeting standards regarding their integrity, competency and financial standing (and are hereafter described in this Statement as "licensees").

The conditions attaching to export licenses are given legal effect through the Act and Orders and Directions made pursuant to the Act, the Australian Meat and Live-stock (Quotas) Act 1990 and the Australian Meat and Live-stock Industry (Export Licensing) Regulations 1998 (the Regulations). It is through the Regulations and Orders that the operating parameters for the live export licensing system are set, including any export restrictions.

This Order is made pursuant to section 17 of the Act. Orders under this section may prohibit (either absolutely or unless particular conditions are complied with) the export, or sale for export, of live-stock by reference to (amongst other things) the countries or places to which the live-stock is not to be exported, or any other matter that the Secretary of DPIE thinks appropriate.

Under section 9 of the Act, the Secretary must have regard to any broad policies formulated jointly by prescribed industry bodies, in exercising his powers under Division 2 (export licences) and Division 3 (export quotas) of Part 2 of the Act. This includes the exercise of the Secretary's powers under section 17 of the Act. The prescribed industry bodies are set out in regulation 5 of the Regulations. DPIE has consulted with representatives from the relevant industry bodies in relation to the making of this Order, and the Secretary has had regard to the policy position of those industry bodies.

This Order revokes Order LC1/98.

2. Background to Order

In recent years licensees have successfully developed a significant trade in live cattle exports to other than our "traditional" markets in South East Asia and Japan, particularly in the Middle East and North African countries. This has mainly been a trade in Bos indicus or "tropical" breeds of cattle, but with concerns over Bovine Spongiform Encephalitis ("mad cow disease") affecting European suppliers, increasing numbers of European (Bos taurus) breeds of cattle are being exported to these markets from Australia.

The shipments pass through the Indian Ocean, the Gulfs of Oman and Aden and the Red Sea. During the northern hemisphere summer months of May to September inclusive, extremes of temperature and humidity are commonly encountered during export voyages through these areas. These conditions have proved extremely stressful for cattle, particularly the European breeds, and have resulted in high levels of mortality and morbidity on some shipments, particularly where these cattle have been sourced from southern Australia in our winter months. This problem was highlighted in one recent shipment to the Middle East where cattle mortalities totalled 46%.

Following this incident, DPIE commenced discussions with industry on ways to address the problems being experienced on these "long haul" voyages. Order LC1/98 was also issued by the Secretary of DPIE on 28 July 1998 imposing new conditions on the export of European breeds of cattle on "long haul" voyages during the northern hemisphere summer, including reducing stocking densities of cattle being exported.

However, this did not prevent unacceptable levels of mortality and morbidity from occurring during a subsequent export of live Bos taurus cattle to the Middle East, where the mortality rate of those cattle was nearly 2%, according to advice from the licensee concerned. Most of the mortalities occurred during the latter part of the voyage when the vessel encountered very hot (45 degree) temperatures. The licensee has advised that he believes the cattle died of heat stress. Temperatures of this magnitude are not unexpected in the summer in the Middle East. Nor are extremes in humidity. These mortalities occurred notwithstanding the extensive care and precautions taken in the pre-export preparation of the cattle and the fact that the loading densities designated in Order LC1/98 were complied with. Loading of the cattle occurred under full Australian Quarantine and Inspection Service (AQIS) supervision.

Following discussions between DPIE officers and industry representatives on 19 August 1998, it became apparent that while there are diverging views on what measures should be taken to address the problems with "long haul" voyages, it is agreed that stocking density is a critical factor in enabling healthy cattle to overcome deficiencies in air exchange while being shipped, particularly in hot and humid conditions. It was also agreed that the stocking density levels previously proposed by industry and given effect by Order No LC1/98 were insufficient.

While industry is in the process of undertaking a comprehensive study on the effects of ship ventilation and stocking densities on live animals being exported on "long haul" voyages, as well as other "best practice" studies, the outcomes of these will not be known for some time. Pending the outcome of the studies, this Order requires licensees to comply with the stocking density requirements outlined in the Order during the period from midnight 30 April to midnight 31 October each year for vessels leaving any Australian Port located south of the 26th parallel, for destinations other than to South East Asia and/or Japan. Whilst the northern hemisphere summer is April to September a margin of one month (October) has been included to cover any unseasonal hot weather at the end of summer.

When compared to the stocking density specified in the Marine Order Part 43 administered by AMSA, these requirements represent a 15% reduction for cattle 400 kg average live weight or greater per head, with a 10% reduction applying to cattle less than 400 kg average live weight per head. The 'two tier' stocking density requirements, with the higher rate triggered at 400 kg average live weight per head, will provide a positive incentive to licencees to export lighter weight cattle which appear to fare better on "long haul" voyages.

The Order applies only to those cattle exported from ports in Australia south of the 26th parallel, as European cattle sourced from areas north of this latitude are considered to be acclimatised to hot humid conditions, unlike their southern winter counterparts. Tropical breeds of cattle sourced from the south in our winter are likely to suffer similar problems to European cattle on "long haul" voyages. Under this Order, the Secretary of DPIE has the discretion to provide a licensee with a written authorisation exempting them from the stocking density requirements of the Order. This is to allow "test" shipments with varying stocking densities to leave Australia to enable technical/scientific information to be obtained as part of industry's "best practice" and ventilation studies referred to above.

Restrictions on the export of European breeds of cattle as set out in this Order do not apply to markets in South East Asia and Japan. These are typically "short haul" voyages and experience has shown that European breeds of cattle can be exported to these destinations successfully throughout the year.

The Order is not specific to the current "problem" markets of the Middle East and North Africa because of the possible development of new northern markets, including Mexico, where it is judged that similar problems will arise with the export of cattle in the northern summer.

The opportunity has also been taken in this latest Order to reword clause 3.1(c) and delete clause 3.1(g) of Order No LC1/98 (now repealed) in light of further comments from industry. Clause 3.1(c) of this Order requires the competent stock attendant accompanying relevant shipments to be other than a member of the vessel's crew. The competent stock attendant is required by the licensee to provide reports to DPIE, independently of the vessel or its crew. Clause 3.1(g) of the previous Order regarding ships carrying electrolytes has been deleted from this Order, as industry and the Department have reconsidered the issue of electrolyte treatment regimes for cattle and now consider that they require further investigation.

3. Summary of Order

This Order addresses welfare concerns about the live export of "soft" southern Australian cattle, particularly European breeds, on "long haul" voyages to markets in the Middle east and North Africa during the northern hemisphere summer months.

The main effect of the Order is to specify the stocking densities that licensees must comply with when exporting cattle on these "long haul" voyages. It also clarifies the requirement in Order No LC1/98 (now revoked) regarding the independence of competent stock attendants who are to accompany live cattle on "long haul" voyages. The requirement for vessels to carry electrolytes has been deleted pending further analysis of the efficacy of electrolyte therapy in cattle.

This Order will be reviewed when industry provides Government with technically based recommendations arising from its study of shipboard ventilation and stocking densities and their effect on live animals during export voyages, and other "best practice" studies currently being undertaken. It is understood that industry's recommendations will cover appropriate stocking densities and ship ventilation requirements for both "short haul" and "long haul" voyages, environmental requirements for different breeds of cattle, feeding regimes, and pre-export preparation including the acclimatisation of "soft" southern cattle to tropical conditions. Where those recommendations are taken up in the Australian Livestock Export Standards issued under the Livestock Export Accreditation Program administered by LIVECORP, or by the Australian Maritime Safety Authority (AMSA) and reflected in the Australian Marine Order Part 43 (made under the Navigation Act 1912 and administered by AMSA), which relate to ships, this Order applying to licensees may no longer be required.

4. Consultation

This Order was prepared following consultation with industry.

ANTI-DUMPING AUTHORITY

CERTAIN COATED PAPER FROM

AUSTRIA, BELGIUM, FINLAND, FRANCE, GERMANY, INDONESIA, ITALY, JAPAN, THE REPUBLIC OF KOREA, THE NETHERLANDS, SWEDEN, SWITZERLAND AND TAIWAN

The Anti-Dumping Authority has completed its inquiry into certain coated paper from Austria, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, the Republic of Korea, the Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland and Taiwan.

In its report to the Minister, the Authority found that:

- exports from Austria, Finland, Germany, Japan and Korea, had been dumped;
- there were negligible volumes of dumped imports from Belgium, France, Indonesia, Italy, the Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland and Taiwan;
- the Australian industry producing coated paper had suffered material injury caused by dumping;
- it is unlikely that future exports of coated paper from Austria, Germany and Korea will be dumped;
- future exports of coated paper from Finland and Japan may be dumped; and
- there is a threat of material injury to the Australian industry producing coated paper from future exports of coated paper from Finland and Japan.

In light of the above, the Authority recommended that the Minister take anti-dumping action against future imports of certain coated paper from Finland and Japan.

The Authority also recommended that the Minister not take anti-dumping action against imports of certain coated paper from Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Indonesia, Korea, the Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland and Taiwan and that he accept the price undertakings on A3 grade coated paper offered by The Okamoto Co Ltd and DaiEi Paper Ltd of Japan.

The Minister has now accepted the Authority's recommendations.

Requests for copies of the Authority's Report no. 188 should be addressed to the Information Officer, Ms Margaret McLeod, at the Authority on telephone (02) 6213 6754 or email MMCLEOD@dist.gov.au.
