Harassment Awareness & Investigation <sup>TM</sup>

Workplace harassment is a form of discrimination that can seriously undermine a productive work environment. In addition, under various anti-discrimination laws, employers are legally liable for harassment by their employees.

When an allegation or complaint of workplace harassment is brought to the attention of an employer, it is important that a thorough investigation be undertaken to protect the rights of all parties concerned and maintain the integrity and efficacy of organisational processes.

Education Design Systems Pty Limited (EDS), a professional development and training organisation is offering a one-day seminar which aims to promote an awareness of workplace behaviours that can amount to harassment and enhance the skills of persons tasked with investigating such incidents.

Date: Wednesday 26 May 1999 - 9.00am to 4.30pm
Venue: Chifley on George Hotel, 103 George Street, Brisbane

Diesel Fuel Rebate Scheme

Initial Application

Part A • Claimant and Claim Information

Partnerships

If you operate your business as a partnership, you need to complete question 1 (B) of this application and provide proof of identity documents for at least two of the partners. This will allow both nominated partners to sign applications for rebate.

Partnerships between a company and an individual (or variations of other business types) should provide proof of identity documents for the two business types that make up the partnership. In this example, the proof of identity documents as listed on page A7 and A8 of the Initial Application Part A for the individual and the company should be provided.

Claiming as a Trust or Trustee

For the purposes of the Diesel Fuel Rebate Scheme, claimants who wish to claim rebate through a trust will be registered on the scheme under the details of the trustee.

Proof of identity documents as detailed in the Initial Application for Rebate should be supplied for the trustee. For example, if the trustee is an individual, the proof of identity requirements for the individual should be supplied, and Part C of question 1 completed. If the trustee is a company, proof of identity requirements for the company should be supplied, and Part A of question 1 completed. The name of the trust estate should be provided in the 'Trading name' field in question 1.

WARNING!

Claim Preparation Errors

Please take care when completing your claim so that errors do not occur. You may receive a penalty for errors resulting in an overclaim. Please double check your figures before you send in the form.

Invoices greater than 3 years old

Fuel purchased more than 3 years ago is not eligible for rebate. Do not include these invoices in your claim.

What we mean by "Location" and "Mobile Operations"

This part of the form contains many questions that ask about things that you do at "this location". What we mean by the term "location" will vary according to your particular type of mining operations. You should have received advice from a Diesel Fuel officer as to what a "location" is in relation to your particular type of mining operations.

You should have received a separate Part B of this form for EACH "location" at which you operate. We ask you to complete each of these so that we can determine the activities you perform and the equipment you use at EACH of these "locations". For example, a mining company operating at three different "locations" in Western Australia would need to complete THREE Part B's of this form—one for EACH mining "location".

Question 1 of this part of the form asks if you perform "mobile operations". We would consider that your operations are "mobile" if you move around from mining location to location—usually performing operations for other people and usually based at a particular location for LESS than 12 months (eg. an earthmoving contractor moving from contract to contract performing earthmoving activities at a number of locations across the country in any one year).

If you do undertake "mobile operations" as defined above then your ENTIRE region of operations would be classed as your "location" for the purposes of completing this form. Therefore you are only required to complete ONE Part B of this form, on which you should answer questions in relation to ALL the mining operations that you usually perform during any one year.

Definition of "northern mining activities"

Northern mining activities, for the purpose of the Diesel Fuel Rebate Scheme, means activities associated with or incidental to, the exploration for, or exploitation of, oil or natural gas in waters within the geographical boundaries of 100 degrees east longitude to 140 degrees east longitude and the equator to 30 degrees south latitude.

Definition of "mining town"

Mining town, for the purpose of the Diesel Fuel Rebate Scheme, means a town constructed by or on behalf of a person engaged in mining operations, in an area where immediately prior to its construction there was no town, principally to house employees of the person, but does not include a town administered by:

- (a) a council that is constituted under local government legislation of a State or Territory; or
- (b) an organisation taken to be a council under such legislation.
