OLDP strives to maintain and enhance its reputation as a centre of drafting excellence. We produce legislative and administrative instruments of the highest standard through the innovative use of plain English, current technology and rigorous quality assurance procedures.

Value-added services

We arrange the gazettal and tabling in Parliament of instruments in the Statutory Rules series, and can arrange gazettal and tabling of other instruments.

Attachment A

MINIMUM REQUIRED CETACEAN AVOIDANCE PROCEDURES

Pre Start-up Visual Observation Procedures

- Visual checks (using binoculars from a suitable, high observation platform on the survey vessel) for the presence of whales will be undertaken before the commencement of operations.
- Observations which ensure effective monitoring of a 3 kilometres radius around the survey vessel (see attached diagram) will begin at least 90 minutes prior to and continue during the use of any high-energy acoustic sources.

For information, indicators of whale activity may be in the form of blows and surface activity resulting in large splashes.

Diagram of area surrounding a seismic vessel that must be monitored for the presence of whale

Start-up Delay Procedures

- Discharge of the acoustic sources will not commence unless there are no whales within a minimum distance of 3 km from the survey vessel.
- If whales are detected within this zone the start up of acoustic sources will be delayed until they have been observed to move outside the 3km radius or, if they are no longer observable, 30 minutes after the last sighting within 3km.

Soft Start Procedures

- A sequential build-up of warning pulses will be carried out at the commencement of all surveys. The whole array will not be fired without a full soft start. Soft starts will be used even if no whales have been seen.
- Visual observation will be maintained continuously during soft starts to establish the presence or absence of whales within 3 km of the vessel.
- If whales are sighted during this soft start procedure within the 3km zone, the seismic source will be powered down to the minimum audible source. Re-commencement of soft start procedures will take place after 30 minutes has lapsed since the last whale sighting within the 3km zone.
- There may be continued discharge of the acoustic source during line turns or changes. Discharge of only a limited number of air-guns in the acoustic array would be sufficient in this case.
- Alternatively the array may be completely shut down between the lines of a survey. In the event that the array is completely shut down between the lines of a survey, the full start-up delay and soft start procedures will be undertaken prior to the whole array being fired.

For information, the soft start procedure involves a gradual increase in the number of air-guns fired over a 20 minute period prior to commencement of a line, and serves to send out a series of warning pulses to whales and give them adequate time to leave the vicinity.

Visual Observation Procedures During Survey Line

- Continuous visual observations will be carried out during seismic operations. The area to be monitored for the presence of whales is the same as that applying for pre-start surveys.
- Where whales are seen as part of the observation procedures, continual observations should occur until 2 hours have passed since the last observation has occurred.
- All cetacean observations, whether within 3km or not, should be reported.

Stop Work Procedures

- Where a seismic vessel with an operating acoustic source approaches within 3km of an individual whale or pod of whales, the acoustic source will be powered down to the minimum audible source.
- Where an individual whale or pod of whales approaches within 3 km of a seismic vessel, the acoustic source will be powered down to the minimum audible source unless the animal or animals are seen to be skirting the edge of the 3km limit.
- Seismic source operations will not recommence until the animal or pod has been seen to move outside of a 3 km range, or has not been seen for 20 minutes.

Recording and Reporting Procedures

- Any whale sightings will be recorded on the Environment Australia Whale and Dolphin Sighting Report form.
- At completion of the seismic survey, copies of all report forms will be submitted to:
Department of Environment and Heritage
Wildlife Impact & Protection Section, GPO Box 787, Canberra ACT 2601

Attachment B

ADDITIONAL CETACEAN AVOIDANCE PROCEDURES

Aerial or vessel survey prior to seismic survey

- A spotter [aircraft or vessel] will be used to survey for whales within the proposed seismic survey area within 48 hours prior to commencement of the seismic survey.
- If night-time seismic work is to be conducted, whale monitoring within the area proposed to be surveyed must be conducted within 12 hours prior to the seismic survey.

Aerial or vessel survey during seismic survey

- During the seismic survey a spotter [aircraft or vessel] will traverse the seismic survey area in advance of the seismic survey vessel during daylight hours to survey for whales that may potentially be in the area.
- If pods or mother-calf pair(s) of whales are sighted during the survey in an area where it is likely that the seismic survey will pass within five kilometres of the pods or mother-calf pair(s) then:
 - a. The seismic survey track schedule will be re-routed to other parts of the seismic survey area to avoid the area in which the pods or mother-calf pair(s) are likely to occur by as much distance as reasonably practical, and at all times greater than five kilometres. A minimum five kilometre separation distance should be maintained.
 - b. The spotter vessel will maintain a watch on the pods or mother-calf pair(s) and convey any movements of the aggregation to the seismic survey vessel so that active measures to maintain the five kilometre separation distance can be taken.
 - c. If a five kilometre separation distance cannot be maintained between the operating seismic survey vessel and the pods or mother-calf pair(s) then the acoustic source will be powered down to the minimum audible source until condition (a) above can be met.
- The spotter vessel will survey the anticipated seismic track over which night survey operations will occur during the preceeding day to allow detection and avoidance of aggregation(s) that may be encountered.
- If the spotter vessel is required to temporarily cease required spotter operations (eg for safety or refuelling needs), then the seismic survey may continue for a period of up to 24 hours provided the anticipated areas to be surveyed over this period of time has been monitored for the likely presence of migrating pods of whales and provisions have been made to avoid the likely track of any such pods as far as reasonably practicable. In any event, interactions with whales will continue to be managed as per the procedures defined at Attachment A. Advice will be sought from the Department of the Environment and Heritage (DEH) if the spotter vessel is likely to be unexpectedly off-line for greater than 24 hours at any one time.

Independent dedicated marine mammal observer

- A Marine Mammal Observer (MMO) will be onboard the seismic survey vessel. In addition, the spotter [aircraft or vessel] will have a dedicated MMO onboard who shall be equipped with equipment necessary for carrying out his/her duties (e.g. range finder binoculars and camera). However, if a second MMO is not available at the time of the survey, a suitably experienced person may be engaged on board the spotter vessel.

- The spotter [aircraft or vessel] will be in radio contact with the seismic survey vessel to enable communications regarding any whale observations or other matters.
- MMOs will generally be independent biologists who have experience in cetacean identification, distance estimation, and are capable of making detailed observations of cetacean behaviour.

Dedicated trained crew

- The MMO onboard the seismic survey vessel shall be assisted by crew members, on a rotational basis, who have had training in whale observation techniques and distance estimation. As a minimum the trained crew will have studied and demonstrated familiarity with the APPEA CD-based identification and reporting package.

NOTICE OF NEW DATA MATCHING PROGRAM

From 1 July 2005 Centrelink intends to match customer records with data from Income Stream Providers for customers owning Allocated Income Streams and Market-linked Income Streams.

The income stream data is obtained from Income Stream Providers under s195 and s196 of the Social Security (Administration) Act 1999. Centrelink will not disclose any personal or protected information to the Income Stream Providers in this program.

The matching program will enable Centrelink to identify customers who have Allocated and Market-linked income streams and replace the current manual review with an automated process to update customer records. Those customers who have not declared these income streams to Centrelink will be reviewed. If Centrelink finds the customer does have an undisclosed income stream, they may incur a payment reduction, debt or in more significant cases, prosecution.

Initially, approximately 35,000 Centrelink records will be matched against Income Stream Providers, building to potentially 235,000 over the next three years.

A document describing this program has been developed in consultation with the Office of the Federal Privacy Commissioner. Copies of the document are available from:

DRAFT TOOLKIT for MAKING DECISIONS ABOUT TESTS AND TREATMENTS: A GUIDE TO BETTER COMMUNICATION BETWEEN HEALTH CONSUMERS AND HEALTH PROFESSIONALS

The National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC) has developed a draft toolkit: Making decisions about tests and treatments: a guide to better communication between health consumers and health professionals, to help consumers and clinicians to communicate more effectively about the risks, benefits and outcomes of tests and treatments. The overall aim is to help consumers make better decisions about their health care.

The toolkit includes evidence about the main principles of effective communication; provides the tools for health professionals and consumers to put the theory into practice, and is supported by three illustrative case studies (a test, a procedure and a medication).

You are invited to make a submission to the NHMRC about the draft toolkit. In order to ensure that the toolkit is as comprehensive, relevant and useful as possible, the NHMRC welcomes:

Department of Health and Ageing
Office of the Gene Technology Regulator

08 July 2005

INVITATION TO COMMENT ON A RISK ASSESSMENT & RISK MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR GENETICALLY MODIFIED COTTONS

Australia's Gene Technology Regulator (the Regulator) is responsible for administering the national regulatory system that seeks to protect the health and safety of people and the environment by identifying risks posed by, or as a result of, gene technology and managing those risks.

The Regulator is currently assessing licence application DIR056/2004 from Bayer CropScience Pty Ltd for a limited and controlled release of genetically modified (GM) cottons:

- ⇒ The application proposes a large scale field trial of herbicide tolerant and herbicide tolerant/insect resistant GM cottons on up to 24 sites over a maximum total area of 500 hectares during each of the 2005/06 and 2006/07 summer planting seasons in the cotton growing areas of NSW, and southern and central Qld. The purpose of the trial is to introduce the new traits into elite Australian varieties and would include testing agronomic performance, seed increase and establishing demonstration sites.

The Regulator has prepared a risk assessment and risk management plan (RARMP) for the proposed release, incorporating a range of licence conditions (including containment measures), that would be imposed if a licence was issued.

The Regulator invites written submissions on the RARMP in order to finalise the plan. This document will then form the basis of the Regulator's decision on whether to issue the licence. The consultation RARMP and related documents can be obtained from the Regulator's website under "What's New" or by contacting her Office (see below). Please quote the application number in any correspondence.

Submissions should be forwarded by close of business on 12 August 2005.

the place has outstanding heritage value to the nation
because of the place's importance in the course, or pattern, of Australia's natural or cultural history.

The Glenrowan Heritage Precinct was the site of the Glenrowan siege in 1880. The events at Glenrowan clearly established Ned Kelly and the Kelly Gang as symbols in Australian culture. Only Ned Kelly survived the fight, with other members of the Kelly Gang killed at the site by the police. Ned Kelly was executed, after trial, at Melbourne Gaol following his capture at Glenrowan.

The Glenrowan siege established Ned Kelly and the Kelly Gang as cultural symbols, fostered the notion of bushranging as an attempt to come to terms with established authority and added new stories to Australian folklore.

The association of the event with the place is well documented, as is its impact on the nation. Ned Kelly, in his armour, has become an iconic Australian image, featuring in paintings by Sidney Nolan and at the 2000 Sydney Olympics. The precinct's attributes include the following: the original railway platform and the alignment of the railway siding, the site of Platelayer's tents; the site of Anne Jones' Glenrowan Inn and its outbuildings; the remnant of the creek used for shelter by the police and various police positions; the site of

- a) continued Ned Kelly's fall and capture – the 'Kelly Log' site; the site of the 'Kelly Copse'; the site of McDonnell's Railway tavern where the bodies of Steve Hart and Dan Kelly were taken, and also where the gang left their horses and the blasting powder intended to be used at Benalla; as well as a suite of archaeological sites, locations and buildings, which relate to the events of 1880.
- (b)
the place has outstanding heritage value to the nation because of the place's possession of uncommon, rare or endangered aspects of Australia's natural or cultural history. The legend of Ned Kelly and the Kelly Gang is an important part of Australia's national consciousness. The Glenrowan Heritage Precinct has been graphically and historically celebrated as the site of the Glenrowan Siege since 1880, and is uncommon as a site associated with a nationally important story.
- The attributes are outlined at Criterion (a), above.

the place has outstanding
heritage value to the nation because of the
place's strong or special association with a particular community or cultural group for social, cultural or spiritual reasons. The Glenrowan Heritage Precinct has social and cultural significance to members of the wider Australian community for its defining role in the creation of the Ned Kelly 'myth' or 'legend' The place is directly associated with a nationally important story, which has become part of Australia's cultural traditions.

- (h)
the place has outstanding
heritage value to the nation because of the
place's special association with the life or works of a person, or group of
