ACMA may decide that sub-section 83(2) of the Act applies to a licensee if it is satisfied that allowing the licensee to provide or continue to provide either a commercial or a community broadcasting service under a licence would lead to a significant risk of: (a) an offence against the Act or the regulations being committed; (b) or a breach of the conditions of the licence occurring.

ACMA is required to renew these licences unless it decides that an applicant is no longer a suitable licensee. A company is a suitable licensee if ACMA does not decide that sub-section 41(2) of the Act applies to the company.

ACMA may decide that 41(2) of the Act applies to a licensee if it is satisfied that allowing the licensee to provide or continue to provide a commercial broadcasting service under a licence would lead to a significant risk of: (a) an offence against the Act or the regulations being committed; (b) or a breach of the conditions of the licence occurring.

In deciding whether the sub-section applies, ACMA is required by sub-section 41(3) of the Act, to take into account: (a) the business record of the company; and (b) the company's record in situations requiring trust and candour; and (c) the business record of the chief executive and each director and secretary of the applicant; and (d) the record in situations requiring trust and candour of each such person; and (e) whether the company, or a person referred to in paragraph (c) or (d), has been convicted of an offence against this Act or the regulations.

Some public notifications on the Internet and in the Gazette relating to the processing of referrals for approval under Chapter 4 of the Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 may occasionally be missed in processing by the Department of the Environment, Water, Heritage and the Arts, or may not meet timeframes for notification. The Department of the Environment, Water, Heritage and the Arts has implemented systems and ongoing quality assurance procedures to minimise any risk of missing a notification within the required timeframe. Where a missed notification is identified the practice will be to notify these even though the timeframe for notification has lapsed. This will ensure that the history of notifications for each referral is available to the public. The Department of the Environment, Water, Heritage and the Arts regrets any inconvenience that may be caused by a missed notification. Please note that late notifications have not affected subsequent processing of referrals or assessments and they do not affect decisions made.

The Federal Redistribution 2009

New South Wales

PROPOSED REDISTRIBUTION OF FEDERAL ELECTORAL BOUNDARIES IN NEW SOUTH WALES

The Redistribution Committee for New South Wales has made a proposed redistribution of federal electoral boundaries in New South Wales.

Members of the public and organisations are invited to inspect the report of the Redistribution Committee, which contains reasons for the proposed redistribution and detailed maps showing the names and boundaries of each proposed electoral division, along with the suggestions and comments on those suggestions lodged with the Redistribution Committee for New South Wales.

What is a redistribution?

A redistribution is a redrawing of electoral boundaries to ensure that, as far as practicable, there are the same number of electors in each division within a state or territory. In making the proposed redistribution, the Redistribution Committee takes into account community of interests, communication and transport links, physical features, and the current boundaries.

Why is a redistribution being conducted?

A redistribution of federal electoral boundaries in New South Wales is required due to the change of entitlement to the number of members in the House of Representatives from 49 to 48. In accordance with section 59 of the Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918 (the Electoral Act) the Electoral Commission therefore directed that a redistribution commence on 19 February 2009.

What has happened so far?

A Redistribution Committee was appointed on 21 April 2009. Notices inviting suggestions and comments were placed in the Commonwealth Gazette on 1 April 2009, in the Daily Telegraph and the Sydney Morning Herald newspapers on 4 April 2009, and in the Sun-Herald and the Sunday Telegraph on 5 April 2009. One hundred and twenty four suggestions and 18 comments on the suggestions were received and considered by the Redistribution Committee in the development of its proposal.

The proposed divisions

Projected enrolment growth across the state means that divisional boundaries must be reviewed to ensure, as far as practicable, there are equal numbers of electors in each division. The Redistribution Committee has proposed changes to a number of federal electoral boundaries in order to meet the numerical parameters that are prescribed in the Electoral Act. The Committee has also proposed that the Division of Reid be abolished.

The Redistribution Committee's proposed boundaries make use of local government boundaries, main roads and geographical features, and take into account transport and communication links across and between communities. The Redistribution Committee also gave consideration to community of interests.

Names of proposed divisions

The Redistribution Committee has proposed that the Division of Lowe be renamed the Division of McMahon.
